JAP WARSHIP WRECKED ON REEFS OFF SO. CAL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The Japanese cruiser Asama is on the rocks near San Bartolome bay, Lower California, according to a wireless message sent by Admiral Howard to the Navy Department. The message says the vessel will probably be a total loss. No details are given.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 4.—Beyond Admiral Howard's message to Washington, which was relayed from here, no word has been received from the wreck of the cruiser Asama except that at last reports the ship was breaking up.

The fate of the crew is not known, though it is believed they were removed.

The Asama is a vessel of 10,000 tons and carried 500 men.

BREAD TO RISE IN PRICE

DENVER, Feb. 4.—Six-cent bread within ten days is the prediction today of local bakers. Wheat advances are given as the cause.

HEAVY LOSSES BY TEUTONS CLAIMED

PETROGRAD, Feb. 4.—Furious fighting is occurring today on the banks of the Bzura river.

Russian aviators, it is said, are dropping bombs on the German concentration camps southwest of Warsaw.

It is admitted the Germans have been reinforced everywhere but it is claimed there have been general Russian successes.

Stubborn hand-to-hand fighting is said to continue day and night. Both sides are reported as having suffered severe losses, but the Russians are said to be advancing. Goumin is still held by the Russians though desperately attacked.

The war office admitted that the Russian advance in Hungary is meeting with stubborn resistance.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The Russians have abandoned their march against Konigsberg, it is thought, as Petrograd dispatches for the last three days have failed to mention progress in that territory.

Advices from other sources say the Russians met a superior force and were halted.

The Germans have suffered heavily in an engagement near Darkheman, where Russian cavalry and infantry repulsed a series of German attacks, but were unable to dislodge the Germans from their position.

The Russians, however, forced a crossing at the river Angerap there.

Prisoners taken by the Russians reported the German lines heavily reinforced by troops from Flanders.

In the western zone, military experts are chiefly concerned over the new attacks against Verdun, where the Crown Prince's army has renewed the attempts to drive the French from the trenches.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—Heavily reinforced, the Germans are attempting to take the offensive along the line from Arras to the coast.

There is heavy cannonading in the vicinity of Neuport.

Airmen reported the Germans preparing another assault on the British positions between La Bassee and Bethune.

A sudden thaw in the Vosges river has caused severe floods, which are hindering operations.

BERLIN (by wireless to Sayville), Feb. 4.—German submarines will be forced to attack neutral shipping unless neutral nations prevent England misusing their flags. This warning is sounded today in an editorial in the Krause Zeitung, the ultra-conservative militarist organ.

SCHOOL FOR INSANE IN OHIO ASYLUM

MASSILLON, O., Feb. 4.—Patients at the state hospitals here are pupils in one of the first schools for the insane ever established. The object is to endeavor to improve the mental condition of the patients. The theory is that mental exercise is the best stimulus for diseased minds, just as physical exercise is supposed to promote development of the body.

Superintendent H. C. Eymann, originator of the plan, today said he found a vast degree of mental range among the patients. Some are surprisingly bright; others inconceivably dull and unable to assimilate any sort of instruction. The plan is to enroll as many as possible in the unique school, although the courses taught will be rudimentary. The wards are divided into classes and each class is given instruction appropriate to its degree of mental development.

"The pupils are just the same as grown-up children," said Dr. Eymann. "Their bodies have grown up, but their minds are those of children."

"The school work has the primary advantage of keeping the minds of the patients engaged, and thus aids those whose condition is aggravated by constant brooding and worry. Besides it keeps busy those who otherwise would not be occupied."

Britain Makes Demand on U. S. for German Dynamiter of Canada Bridge

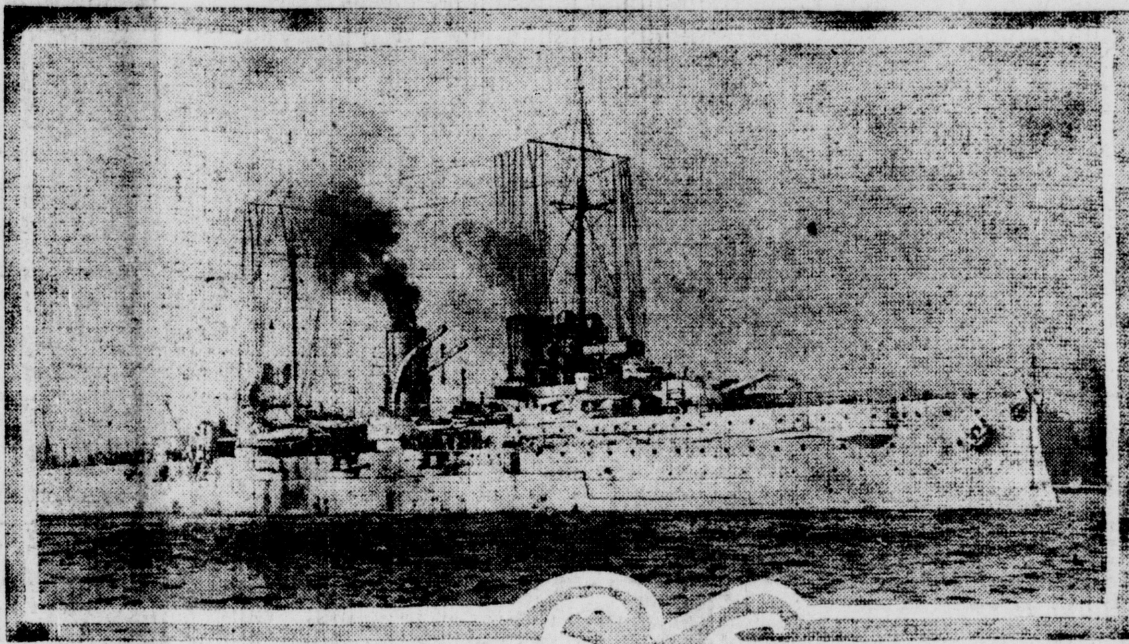

VANCEBORO, Maine, Feb. 4.—Werner Van Horn, who claims to be a retired German officer, was formally charged today with defacing and injuring property here.

The charge is made in connection with his arrest following the dynamiting of the Canadian Pacific bridge over the St. Croix river. The detonation shattered windows here. It is believed he will be held on that charge until some disposition of his case can be decided.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Solicitor Johnson of the State Department admitted today that a request had been made by British Ambassador Spring-Rice for the extradition of Werner Van Horn. He refused to state his probable action, but indicated that if the request proved regular it would probably be granted.

U.S. THREATENED

German Battleship Blucher and the British Officer Who Sank the Craft

VICE-ADMIRAL BEATTY is again a hero in England. His sinking of the German cruiser Blucher off the German coast Sunday, and the disabling of several other German war vessels, have aroused England. The Blucher was one of several German war vessels believed to have started on another raid of the British coast.

Chaplain Pinched, Fined as Speeder Despite Plea

PHOENIX, Feb. 4.—Unusual speed by an automobile used to expedite the state's business is no excuse for fracturing the statutes regulating the amount of haste that may be made.

A least, this developed today when Rev. Bertrand R. Cox, chaplain of the State Senate, was arrested for speeding while bowling merrily toward the capitol at a rate of forty miles an hour.

Rev. Cox, in court, put up a fervid argument that state business necessitated unusual speed.

The court, however, was unable to see the matter in that light and Rev. Cox was fined $10.

Rev. Cox will hereafter undoubtedly exercise due caution in regard to the amount of pressure he brings to bear on the throttle of his racer.

Even with two senators in the tonneau, urging him to "open 'er up," as was his case this morning, the chaplain will travel along at a sedate pace.

'FUMIGATION' OF BOOSTERS' TRAIN TO SAN DIEGO IS ASSURED

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—Disturbances over what they call a "cunning deception" practiced upon them by followers of Pastor Russell in obtaining the use of Trinity Auditorium for a lecture Monday night by J. H. Rutherford of New York are rife among the pastor and congregation of the church.

L. E. Behymer, manager of the Auditorium for week-day events, states that he was deceived into technically violating his agreement with the church officials.

Several months ago Rev. Charles C. Selemann, pastor of the church, introduced a resolution in the church federation condemning "Russellism." Rev. Selemann is a leader against the religious movement.

Rutherford is reported to have stated that he is Pastor Russell's personal attorney and that he preaches "Russellism" in his lectures, and that nothing of this was brought out in the negotiations when he rented the Trinity Auditorium.

Hundreds of protests were received by Rev. Selemann when it became publicly known that the Russell doctrines were being expounded in Trinity Auditorium.

Both the methods and the doctrines of the followers of Russell will be attacked by the pastor at the preaching service next Sunday.

"I have asked that the pulpit be fumigated before I occupy it on next Sunday," Rev. Selemann is reported to have said.

MICHIGAN CONVENTION

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 4.—Republican county conventions for the election of delegates to the spring convention of the party will be held tomorrow throughout Michigan. The state convention will be held a week from today at Grand Rapids.

OLD ENOUGH TO VOTE

NEWTON, N. J., Feb. 4.—Mrs. Wallace Douglas, wife of an instructor at Columbia University, bought a dozen eggs the other day. They were strictly fresh, the grocer said. The first one she opened was sick; the second was hardly convalescent, and a third was stamped "May 6, 1892."

CHRISTMAS GIFTS OF U.S. SPURNED BY ANGRY CITIZENS

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 4.—On the ground that the neutrality of America is hypocritical, the war committee of the town of Zwickau, near Dresden, announces it will refuse to accept all Christmas gifts sent from America on the naval collier Jason.

According to the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin, the committee complains because American manufacturers are selling arms and ammunition to the allies.

Clark will again receive the speaker-ship without opposition. Claude Kitchen of North Carolina will be proposed for majority leader in the House.

Allen of Ohio, Casey of Pennsylvania, McGillicuddy of Maine and Heleving of Kansas will be nominated for the Ways and Means Committee.

Foster of Illinois and Saunders of Virginia are candidates to succeed Palmer as chairman of the Democratic House Caucus.

The caucus will decide whether Democratic committee representations will be reduced as a result of the decreased Democratic majority in the House.

The Republicans will state whether the Progressives shall be given any committee appointments.

TEUTONS HINT AT MEETING MIGHT WITH MIGHT

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 4.—An extraordinary sensation was caused here today when the exact text of the editorial article in the Cologne Gazette attacking the United States was received by wire. Because of the prominence of the Gazette the article caused a great stir.

Commenting on the letter, Secretary of State W. J. Bryan sent to Senator Stone outlining the attitude of America in regard to a neutrality proclamation the paper said:

"Now we may know what to expect from the United States. Under Secretary Bryan American neutrality is to be only a thin curtain behind which active servility to England is hiding."

"NOW THAT WE KNOW WE SHALL ACT ACCORDINGLY."

"IF AMERICA ONLY RESPECTS BRUTAL MIGHT, WE MIGHT WELL USE BRUTAL MIGHT AGAINST HER."

The wireless dispatch from Berlin yesterday to the United Press regarding this editorial did not contain the words of a specific threat as is carried in the Amsterdam cable above given.

G.O.P. TO DECIDE PROGRESSIVES' STATUS AS A PARTY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Whether the Progressives will be recognized in the next congress as a distinct party rests entirely with the Republicans, according to statements made by Democratic leaders today.

The declaration followed the statement that the next congress, so far as the Democrats are concerned, will be organized at caucus tonight.

A speaker will be nominated, also representatives for the vacancies on the House Ways and Means Committee.

Clark will again receive the speaker-ship without opposition. Claude Kitchen of North Carolina will be proposed for majority leader in the House.

Allen of Ohio, Casey of Pennsylvania, McGillicuddy of Maine and Heleving of Kansas will be nominated for the Ways and Means Committee.

Foster of Illinois and Saunders of Virginia are candidates to succeed Palmer as chairman of the Democratic House Caucus.

The caucus will decide whether Democratic committee representations will be reduced as a result of the decreased Democratic majority in the House.

The Republicans will state whether the Progressives shall be given any committee appointments.

NEW OFFICERS IN CHARGE OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

President—Fred Rafferty.
First Vice President—G. W. Minter.
Second Vice President—E. A. White.
Treasurer—C. E. Lamme.
Secretary—J. C. Metzgar.
Delegates to Associated Chambers of Commerce—W. B. Williams and G. S. Smith.
Directors—Fred Rafferty, G. W. Minter, E. A. White, W. B. Williams, C. E. Lamme, G. S. Smith,
C. S. Kendall, Wm. F. Diers, E. S. Gilbert.

The annual report of the Board of Directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce follows:
The twenty-sixth fiscal year of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce closes with the realization that much was accomplished that was previously conceived. Santa Ana is maintaining a steadily increasing growth. This in spite of the general depression that has existed throughout the country during the last two years, Santa Ana has led all cities in her class in building operations and now stands sixth in the cities of Southern California in this respect. This may indicate to the uninformed that this substantial development is spontaneous and the result of no particular effort on the part of civic bodies or individuals, but continued growth does not happen of its own accord, nor does any city force ahead without hard work and intelligent direction.

One of the chief objects of every commercial organization, Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce is to advertise the city or community it represents in order to promote its growth and welfare. If a town does not grow it drifts back, it seldom if ever stands still. This condition means less business for merchants, professional men and business of all kinds. The progressive city is always seeking new enterprises, new people, that will add to its business, more population, more factories, more jobbing houses and more trade.

There is competition, however, between cities as there is between business houses in the same industry and it requires ambition, enterprise, and energy to make a town forge ahead of other municipalities. The commercial organization such as a Chamber of Commerce, was a result of the realization of the twin truths, "In Union there is Strength," and "Co-operation is stronger than individual effort."

One of the chief factors of a successful Chamber of Commerce is good officers, who are alert to take advantage of opportunities, quick to see and act on a suggestion for advancement and who are broad enough to keep clean of conflicting factions, with but the single purpose of promoting the general prosperity of the community they represent.

The local press is a power for good and deserves much credit for persistent, conservative presentation of facts of development. Citizens should unite in mailing copies of Santa Ana papers to interested friends and acquaintances in less favored sections. This should be done frequently and continuously, and not be confined to an annual Newspaper Day. A good newspaper is proof of a good town and Santa Ana has reasons to be proud of her news service.

The Chamber of Commerce has been fortunate in securing publicity through numerous periodicals, magazines, farm journals and newspapers of international circulation which have generously printed articles illustrating with some of Orange county's famous farm, home and city scenes.

Over 70,000 pieces of literature in the way of descriptive folders of Santa Ana and Orange county have been distributed by mail and otherwise during the year.

The Triangle sight-seeing trip is a valuable advertising medium for the entire county. Many people who first see Orange county in this way return to investigate and a large percentage of this number finally remain permanently.

Some 25,000 post cards have been carried away and presumably mailed by visitors to the chamber rooms. These cards have been furnished by the enterprising banking institutions of the city.

Bright Prospects
There is every probability that 1915 will be a year of wonderful prosperity for all of California, but more especially for Southern California. Crop prospects are excellent. Untold thousands of people will visit the two great expositions, many of them planning to locate somewhere in this sunny Southland, and Santa Ana must not neglect the golden opportunity of advertising our advantages to these homeseekers. Santa Ana presents wonderful opportunities. There is much to be done by those who are fortunate enough to live in a city with so many advantages and so much promise of bigger things. Contentment and satisfaction with the present is an indication of stagnation and early decay.

The important and essential step necessary to place a community in the front rank of progress is an acknowledgment of its shortcomings, needs and faults, and strive to secure the remedy. Thus for the various needs of Santa Ana among which may be briefly mentioned: a Y. M. C. A. for the boys and young men, a tourist hotel for the newcomer who has means, an ornamental street lighting system for the city's retail business district, terminal freight rates on many articles so that the competition of Los Angeles and San Diego may be met in securing manufacturing enterprises, Newport Harbor is also an asset of immense possibilities to all of Orange county, and especially to Santa Ana. A large municipal auditorium to care for the conventions of various kinds that would gladly come to Santa Ana if proper facilities were available. A fifty acre city park that would be a popular playground for the citizens and a valuable asset to the city. Such community needs will come to Santa Ana. It is up to the people to say when. The city's growth has been rapid in spite of drawbacks. It will be much more rapid as the drawbacks are eliminated.

Real Growth
In the following report of the activities of your board of directors for the past year, it will be found that as Santa Ana grows and develops the work of the Chamber keeps pace and meets the increased demands made upon it. Living in a community incurs duties and obligations as well as advantages. Service rendered the individual by the community demands that he as an individual shall render services in return. Every citizen is, whether he so desires or not, a member of a community and is accountable for its shortcomings. Community building is a business, a bigger business than any other in the community, and where shall a business be found large or small that in a certain period does much more than to lay a foundation for future success? Santa Ana is growing so rapidly that larger community problems than ever confront the citizens, and the proper adjustment and solution of these problems will require the united action and co-operation of all the people.

The growth of the city pays big dividends to property, business and civic interests in the way of increased real values and in various ways. Much of this growth is due to the loyal support of the public spirited members of the Chamber of Commerce who assist in spreading the gospel of Santa Ana to all parts of the earth.

While many such organizations expend the dues and other moneys of the members in social banquets, your Chamber of Commerce applies all funds available in judicious advertising for the upbuilding and advancement of the community.

The foregoing is worth a place in your thoughts as you read and digest the report.

Attendance.—Average attendance at the semi-monthly meeting has been excellent.

Orange Day.—Your board of directors provided for the distribution of oranges to visitors for about two months beginning with Orange Day. This was good advertising, and many visitors will long remember Santa Ana on this account.

Sign at Depot.—By the courtesy of the Santa Ana Commercial Company the Chamber was enabled to call attention to the city by a large sign placed on the above company's building. This sign gets the attention of many travelers on the Santa Fe Railway who write to the Chamber for more information.

Geraniums Grown.—The growing and free distribution of 35,000 crimson red geranium plants was extremely successful and advertised Santa Ana throughout the world. The City Park commissioners assisted in the enterprise by supplying the cuttings, and much credit is due the commission for their valuable aid.

Saddleback Trip.—The trip to Mt. Santiago under the auspices of the Chamber was one of the most effective Orange county advertising plans ever carried out. The reporters who accompanied the expedition spread the news to the world that Orange county had a scenic trip second to none.

"Clean Up" Work.—The organization gave all possible aid to the Civic Club in the annual city "Clean Up" work.

Rates
Committees gave of their time and energy in behalf of better rates for Santa Ana and while much has been accomplished, a large amount of effort must be expended in order to get an equitable adjustment for Santa Ana shippers.

Prizes
The organization won a first and second prize in the Oregon Agricultural College fair for exhibits of Orange Avocadoes and other sub-tropical fruit. Also was awarded a prize by a San Francisco paper on a photograph of an Orange county farm scene.

B. P. O. E.
Assisted in securing fruits and nuts for the B. P. O. E. annual convention at Denver, Colo.

Literature
Seventy-five thousand folders, furnishing complete information of Santa Ana and Orange county, were printed, and over one-half of them have been distributed to people interested in locating in Southern California. This folder was printed by a Santa Ana firm, and the excellent work speaks well for the enterprising job printers of the city.

City Directory
Realizing the importance of a first-class and down-to-date city directory, your directors instructed the secretary to arrange for and manage the publication of such a book. Modestly forbids further remarks on the subject, and the new 1915 Santa Ana City Directory, as published by the Chamber of Commerce, speaks for itself. This entire work was also done by Santa Ana printers.

Belgian Relief
The committee on the Belgian relief fund obtained flattering results, and were enabled to ship out nearly ten tons of Orange county provisions for the sufferers abroad.

Schemes
Sixteen schemes for obtaining funds from citizens were disapproved and discouraged, with the result that the funds of the community have been conserved for legitimate purposes, and this is probably one of the reasons that Santa Ana and vicinity is in better financial condition than any other part of the country. Endorsements were few, and but six plans received the approval of the directors and committees. It might be well to direct attention to the fact that all applicants for the endorsement of the chamber must stand a thorough and rigid examination. This is necessary so that fake promotion concerns may not prey upon the people of the community.

New Members
Forty-two new members were added to the membership roll. These were mostly voluntary applicants and not solicited. A membership day should be inaugurated and the membership increased from the present membership of about 340 to 600 or 700. The larger membership would enable the organization to obtain greater results for Santa Ana, and as the dues are very small, every citizen should take pride in being enrolled in "An organization for the man who believes in himself and his town."

Inquiries
Evidence of world-wide interest in Santa Ana is shown by the character of some of the inquiries as listed here in:

"I am getting ready to move to Southern California and want full particulars of your section."

"Will you kindly send a copy of your large advertising book, 'The Santa Ana Daily Register,' as we are thinking of locating in Orange county."

"Please give us names of firms in your city shipping fruits and nuts."

"Please give me full information of the financial standing of _____, and is he reliable in business dealings?"

COUNTY GOING TO SELL $200,000 STATE BONDS

Purchase Was Originally Made to Insure State Highway Work in County

At a conference of the Board of Supervisors and Highway Commission yesterday afternoon it was decided to postpone further consideration of the recommendations the highway commissioners for the disposal of the $240,000 surplus good roads money until February 16 in order to give the supervisors an opportunity to determine whether or not it is advisable to call an election upon a $500,000 bond issue for additional roads.

If the supervisors think the people want the bonds, the election will certainly be called.

The bonding question will be discussed at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce at Yorba Linda Friday night, at which time the supervisors hope to get an expression from the representatives of the various communities.

If the election for bonds is not called, there is little question but that the majority report, which has recommendations including the paying of

What Should a Man Do? Suggestion of Ohio Druggist to One Such Man Saved His Life, So He Says.

Nelsonville, Ohio.—"I was all run-down, weak and nervous and had no appetite at all. In fact I was very much discouraged until our druggist told me about Vinol and asked me to try it. I did so and it has certainly been a life saver to me. I can gladly recommend Vinol to anyone who needs a blood and nerve tonic."—S. S. STEENROB, Nelsonville, Ohio.

When a man is run-down, weak and nervous, he needs a good appetite, good digestion, better blood, more strength, more vitality, and we do not know of any medicine that will supply it so quickly as Vinol.

It is the active medicinal principles of cod liver oil aided by the blood making strengthening properties of tonic iron, contained in Vinol, which makes it so efficient in building up health and strength for weak, nervous, run-down men and women.

We ask every weak, nervous, run-down person in this locality to try Vinol on our guarantee, and if it fails to help you we will return your money.

the Santa Ana canyon road and the building of the Placencia-Yorba connection and the Olive to Tustin foothill boulevard, will be adopted.

Yesterday, however, consideration of both the majority and the minority reports of the commissioners was put over.

Want to Sell Bonds

A year ago the Board of Supervisors purchased $200,000 good roads bonds of the state in order that the State Highway Commission might have money with which to finish the state highway through this county. At that time the county had the money lying idle, and it was thought a good move to get the bonds and the interest they would pay. The time has come when the county needs the money for construction work here, and it has been decided to sell the bonds. Bids will be received on February 16.

Other Matters

February 16 was set as the date for receiving bids for building a concrete bridge across the Oso creek below El Toro, on the state highway.

The petition of A. S. Davis to lay a pipeline was granted.

The petition of the Santa Fe to close an alley at Olive was granted.

The Methodist ladies will serve dinner at the church at 12 o'clock, charging 35 cents. The address will be free and those who do not get there in time for the dinner are invited to come anyway for the address. All are urged to hear Dr. Somerville and every business man will want to get his message. Those who have planned to go to Santa Ana Thursday evening should have automobiles at the church by 7 p. m. BEST LAXATIVE FOR BOWELS—CASCARETS

When Constipated, Headachy, Bilious, Breath Bad, Stomach Sour

Get a 10-cent box. Are you keeping your bowels, liver, and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters?

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, Coated Tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.—Advertisement.

MORE GOOD ROADS BONDS?

In the judgment of the Register the Board of Supervisors should not call an election on the proposition to issue $500,000 additional good roads bonds unless they have good reason to feel assured that such a proposition would be approved at the polls. And we believe the question could be almost certainly determined in advance.

Let the arguments for and against the proposition be presented in the newspapers, at public meetings; take straw votes at theatres and elsewhere; have chambers of commerce, boards of city trustees, boards of directors of water companies, drainage districts, banks, etc., adopt resolutions of endorsement or opposition, embodying their reasons for their actions.

In these ways it can be almost certainly ascertained what the result of an election would be.

We ought not to incur the expense of an election, and stir up sectional antagonism unless we are practically certain the bonds will carry.

The Register has no hesitancy in expressing itself as favorable to the proposition of voting $500,000 additional good roads bonds. This paper is thoroughly convinced that good roads are worth all they cost, and that in those we have constructed we got the worth of our money.

But the Register does not purpose to urge electors to vote the bonds. Unquestionably there will be a wide diversity of opinion and judgment on the proposition, and from the individual point of view there will be strong arguments for and against it.

This paper's columns will be open to all who may wish to use them, within reasonable limits, to present their views.

LONG RANGE TELEPHONING

The rate of $21.00 for three minutes talk over the new telephone line from Boston to San Francisco, will be prohibitive for ordinary conversation. Yet it will be used more for business than most people realize.

The growing use of the telephone over distances of a thousand miles or more is a feature of modern life. It is so much more satisfactory than letters. The most essential point of your letter may be passed over almost unnoticed by a correspondent. It is remarkable how many good business men fail to express themselves definitely when it comes to putting it in black and white. They leave out some essential point and the correspondence has to begin all over again.

To many people who do not have large business interests, a conversation over a hundred miles seems a rather flustering experience, quite frequently they ask some one to talk for them, though their hearing may be perfectly good. Their ordinary faculties are bewildered by the wonder of a scientific marvel that is the merest commonplace to the business man.

Long distance telephony depends on complete perfection of connection. Patrons may submit to the struggle to make their voices heard above a buzzing wire on a short distance connection, repeating and spelling out words over and over again to guard against mistake. But at $7.00 per minute there can not be a single link of noisy line.

It is quite an art to use costly telephone conversations with a minimum of expense. A great deal can be said in three minutes. The points of the conversation, and the questions to be asked, should be written out as carefully as if you were delivering a formal address. Every time you say "er—er—", as you jolt along in ordinary talk, costs high.

The High Cost of Distribution

A SERIES—NUMBER THREE

It is a complicated structure of middlemen through whose hands food products pass from producer to consumer. Many fruits and vegetables go through five hands. A local buyer and shipper purchases from the farmers. He sells to a commission dealer in some city. The commission man often puts the fruit in the hands of an auction house. The auction house sells to a jobber. The jobber sells to the retailer.

Five profits have to be paid. Overhead charges on five distinct enterprises have to be settled for. In addition cartage and freight charges are multiplied. No wonder it is a costly thing to live in the United States!

Five middlemen are perhaps in excess of the usual number, yet probably the average article of food goes through four hands after leaving the farmer.

The wholesale and commission trade is one in which many abuses develop. A commission merchant may act also as a jobber. If he sees the market rising, he can transfer the farmer's product from his account as a commission agent, to his account as a jobber, paying the farmer a commission on the low price only. Then he can sell out at a high price, thus making two profits for one handling.

The majority of the wholesalers and commission men are no doubt honest. But abuses like these have been very common, and all amount up to enhance the price the consumer pays, besides impoverishing the farmer.

The wholesale business has its large function. But the economic experts feel that there are too many middlemen, and that they make too much money, that by the proper initiative on the part of farmer and consumer much of their profit can be cut out.

Europe, which Americans consider as being far behind our country, has achieved wonders in eliminating these superfluous profits. It seems slow and stupid on the part of Americans to fail to do likewise.

Foundation Stones for Agricultural Success

[NOTE—"What are the fundamental principles of successful agriculture." This is one of a series of articles answering that question. In these brief summaries different experts of the faculty of the College of Agriculture of the University of California have set forth succinctly the basic principles of their various specialties.]

7.—FACTORS OF GOOD FARMING

By John W. Gilmore, Professor of Agronomy in the University of California.

Soil preparation, tillage, drainage, a good supply of organic matter in the soil, and applications of mineral fertilizers, including lime, enhance the yield and the quality of the crops.

Crops and animals bred for high production and quality lessen the cost per unit of production.

Good crops and animals generally make for better men; they increase man's appreciation and broaden his sympathies.

Rotation of crops tends to promote the crop-producing power of the soil, to equalize labor distribution, to destroy pests, and to balance animal and crop production.

A legume should be grown upon land at least one year in every four.

The judicious use of mineral fertilizers combined with manure (both green and yard) will, under proper culture and tillage methods, maintain the crop-producing power of the soil.

With crop-producing power maintained, a proper balance between crops produced for sale and for feed, and animals fed, brings the largest returns per labor unit.

Man and horse labor should be employed constantly throughout the year.

A proper balance should be maintained in each type of farming between building, implement and working livestock equipment and land area.

Location and receptivity of the market are factors to be considered in planning and executing a cropping system.

An adequate system of cost-accounting reveals the amounts and sources of income.

Maintenance of crop-producing power and maximum yields and quality per unit of labor expended should be the aim rather than these maxima per unit of area.

W. A. HUFF

the United States, all actuated by the one desire, to find a home where the elements blend together with greater harmony than they do back there "where we used to live."

We are entertaining a great many visitors from Florida, many more than in former years, and not a few of them have committed arson. They have burned the bridges behind them. At least that is what one old fellow from Indian river told me. I am surprised at these folks from the "Everglades." It seems to cost them no effort whatever to admit that OUR Southland is superior to theirs. Gee, how the reverse admission would weigh on my conscience. One man told us that in the last seven years his quinine bill exceeded the price of flour to feed his family, by quite a margin. Another strange thing to me is that most of these people are looking for orange land. That old adage which says a "burned child dreads the fire," doesn't seem to hold good in this case. "Distance lends enchantment to the scene," and Florida is a long ways from California.

Some people from Minnesota came in today and said they heard the Orange County lecture last week and it had burned its way clear through their armor, and now they were going down to investigate and then invest. A family of fourteen, I forgot just how they were divided, but I think there were thirteen girls and one boy; maybe there were more boys and less girls, but it doesn't matter, for they were all of school age, and Daddy looked prosperous and happy. They, too, inquired the most direct way to the Orange County line.

I want to say, in passing, that the lady representing Orange County here is doing the work well, and if any of our people will take the time when in Los Angeles to go up to the lecture room at 2 p. m. and hear the hearty ovation that greets her at the close of her lecture, and watch the number of people who come to the desk for further information, they will certainly agree with me in this conclusion. The average daily attendance in the lecture room this week has been above eighty, and I have never seen greater interest manifested.

They are carrying away our literature with almost savage relish. I put out fifty of our little new booklet this morning, and they were gone at noon. A great many come to us and ask for books to send East. If the interest in our literature keeps up at this rate, the last edition will have become exhausted long before the end of the year.

San Diego Fair

Now I want to say something to our people about the fair at San Diego. We must not forget this is OUR fair. It belongs to all Southern California, and it is our solemn duty to help make it an unqualified success from every angle. It's a beautiful exposition, worth going many times as far to see. Besides this, our local pride should stimulate every mother's citizen of Orange County to not only lend his presence, but to use his voice in boosting the San Diego fair. Our neighbors in the North would gladly give us the jolly "ha, ha" if we fail to make our Southland fair a success. Mr. Wiggins is getting to the kernel of the situation by sending urgent letters to every civic organization and commercial club in the country, asking them to have a day set apart for their respective localities and then boost for a big attendance. In this way it is possible to engender a little friendly rivalry between sections and materially increase the attendance down there.

Exhibits Given

I want to take this opportunity to thank several Orange county citizens for recent donations to our exhibit. Mrs. Samuel Hill of Stanton sent in some American Wonder lemons that are by no manner of reasoning "misnomers." We have to argue with some of our visitors to convince them they are not pumpkins. Dozens of strangers read the card on the display and say, "Well they sure are wonder lemons." And this elicits further inquiry. They want to know the kind of soil they grow in, and the kind of tree they grow on, and these in turn give us an opportunity to expand and explain the county's opportunities and advantages. Mrs. F. J. Dittmer of Villa Park gave us some fine chevimes as that surely catches the stranger's eye and holds him spell-bound while we hog-tie him from a well-stored fund of information.

Mr. A. S. Bradford of Placentia exemplified the progressive spirit of that frost forgotten best by bringing in a basket of oranges, as fine as ever grew from a limb. Mr. Bradford might have brought them in a bucket only they were too big to go in that kind of a receptacle.

Mr. N. Frank Morse, also from the growing town of Placentia, sent us a box of fancy oranges, "just to tempt the unsuspecting tourist." Gollafalugions, how those oranges do stack up on our counter. They make some of the other exhibits look like the slice of pie I get at my boarding house.

Queer, isn't it, how some people encourage a penchant for taking that which doesn't belong to them? They come in here and lug off all manner of things, valuable and otherwise. The Placentia Cannery furnished us with some "dummy" cans, filled with a harmless liquid from the Anaheim Union Water Company's main canal, the kind of social beverage thousands of people use in preference to "White Rock and Rye" or the ordinary "red eye of commerce." Some vagrant hobo came along the other day and, with malice a prepenance, lugged off three of the cans. His surprise must have been great when he reached the contents and found only pure, unadulterated water.

CROWDS THRONING LECTURE ROOM TO HEAR THE TRUTHS ABOUT WONDERFUL COUNTY

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, Los Angeles, Feb. 1.—This great institution of learning is beginning to loom large against the horizon. These look for all the world like the crowds we used to have when the lecture room was so crowded the walls seemed to bulge out, and the intense interest manifested recalls the experience of former years, when the tourists hung onto the words like a bird cage on the wall. The splendid hand-clap at the conclusion of each Orange County lecture certainly thrills the speaker and cheers to better effort. These people are serious beyond a doubt, for many of them come and sit out all the lectures, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

I notice some of them walk away with a halt in their step, but that could be expected. The transformation from Orange County's splendid offerings, in valley and foothill, peatland and alluvial mesa, to—well, suppose we say to the "painted desert," where hope sees not a star, and where energy finds not a foundation on which to build, is too great a load for a stranger to carry away with him without causing an impediment in his speed. I am meeting a great many old time friends from other sections of

LADIES' AID MEETING

Members Pleased With Address Given by Returned Pacific Branch Missionary

The Ladies' Aid of the First Congregational church held a most delightful all-day meeting yesterday at the church.

A bountiful noon-time dinner won the praise of the large company of people who attended, the dinner being in charge of Mesdames C. F. Crose, L. W. Van Cleave, W. E. Watson, C. H. Chapman, M. J. Hutchins, E. J. Benedict, D. Schlager and Mabel Rowland. The dining tables were prettily decorated with smilax, intermingled with scarlet hearts, and these emblems, honoring Saint Valentine, were observed in the salad course.

During the afternoon, Mrs. E. M. Nealley presented the society with a lovely china vase, the gift of a much-loved, old-time member, Mrs. H. M. Hamilton. The useful gift was highly appreciated by the Ladies' Aid.

After a short business meeting, Mesdames W. H. Crose and C. F. Crose sang a beautiful duet entitled "Praise the Lord," immediately followed by the lecture given by Miss Henrietta Bremer, field secretary of the Pacific coast missionary branch. Miss Bremer is most pleasing in appearance and having just returned from a two years' tour of the Orient, her talk was especially interesting. She told of her visits with missionary families and in homes of the Chinese, Japanese and Turks and emphasized the pitiful conditions of existing in Turkey since the beginning of the European war. During her lecture, interesting kodak views, illustrating her tour, were passed around to the company who gave her a hearty vote of thanks at the close of her instructive and entertaining address.

Last Chance to See Passion Play

The lectures in the First Christian church by Rev. Holley have been very helpful and instructive. "The pictures of the Life of Christ are the best that could be made. Over 300 persons assisted in producing the films. Tonight Rev. Holley will close his week of visits with a trip through the Yellowstone Park. This is also in moving pictures. These are the only pictures of the park in existence. They were produced by the Northern Pacific. Rev. Holley has secured them through a friend.

The entire evening will be given over to pictures which the speaker will explain as they are given. A few colored views will be given of the many things that are in the park, but the entertainment will be largely moving pictures. Those who have attended the lectures of Rev. Holley on Christian Union have been very much pleased with the way in which the subject has been presented.

At this closing service a silver offering will be taken at the door. All are invited to attend this great treat of seeing one of the beauty spots of the world.

Pro Bono Class Meets

Fifty-three members and friends of the Pro Bono class of the United Presbyterian church, were delightfully entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smiley of West Orange.

An election of officers, for the ensuing year, was held with the following results:

Class president, J. A. Smiley; vice president, Thomas Elsele; secretary, Mrs. C. F. Miller; teacher, R. R. Smith; assistant teacher, F. A. Andrews.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served and the social hours were gaily whiled away with games and music.

HANDSOME WEDDING

Old-Time Resident Chooses Charming Widow as Helpmate During Life's Winter

The home of Adolphus Bon at 1065 West First street was the scene of an interesting wedding at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Rev. Newton J. Crawford of the United Brethren Church being the officiating clergyman.

The wedding ceremony was preceded by a sumptuous dinner, the home being prettily decorated with calla lilies in honor of this important occasion.

Mrs. Winnen looked as charming in her simple gown of plum colored wool poplin, trimmed with a beautiful set of collar and cuffs of creamy lace, the gift of a grandson at Chicago, as any blushing bride beneath filmy wedding veil, and the bridegroom, though he has recently celebrated his seventieth birthday, is a very sturdy man, full of life and vigor, an excellent example to the younger generation of today.

The happy couple are at present spending their honeymoon at home, but they have planned a delightful little wedding trip in the future, when good weather will be assured.

The wedding ceremony was witnessed by Mrs. Wm. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hanel, and Mr. Carl W. Marr of the Blade, and all joined in wishing the happy couple a future of joy and prosperity.

U. P. Missionary Society Meeting

The Woman's Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian church held its regular meeting in the church parlors yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. J. T. Riat as program leader and Mrs. John Henderson in charge of the devotional service. Miss Addie Cowan read a paper on "The Aborigine Red Men," a paper postponed from last meeting. The subjects for the afternoon were "The Child at Home," and "The Red Man and the Government."

Mrs. Rait, the leader, spoke very interestingly on "The Child at Home," and Mrs. Steele Finley read articles from the book on "Study of the Children of India" as compared with the American children. Mrs. J. E. Kellogg gave a very interesting paper on the "Government of the Indian, and Mrs. Morrow, also, gave an excellent paper on the work among the Indians, which was all the more interesting as Mrs. Morrow has been connected with missionary work among the Indians. At the close of the program, a entertaining guessing contest was held at which these present were asked to guess the hidden names of missionaries from pictures and objects scattered through the parlors. This caused some merriment as well as hard thinking.

The ladies of the congregation are asked to attend a social to be held at the parsonage at 216 Orange avenue on Wednesday, February 10, in the afternoon. The ladies who have earned a dollar will tell their experiences in earning their money. All ladies are invited to this unique social affair of the congregation.

Entertained at Barger Home

The D. M. I. Club was delightfully entertained yesterday afternoon at the cozy home of Mrs. Ernest Barger on Tustin avenue. Fancy work and music whiled away the social hours which passed altogether too swiftly, to please the guests.

Late in the afternoon, dainty sandwiches, doughnuts and hot chocolate were served and the company departed, having planned to hold another of these enjoyable meetings at the home of Mrs. Freeman.

Among the club members present were Mesdames Ernest Barger, D. G. Buchheim, C. A. Peek, Warren Freeman, J. G. Rockefeller, E. Eggers and Miss Jane Jones. Mrs. Lassby was a welcome guest of the club at this meeting.

Helping Hand Society

The Helping Hand Society of the First Baptist church met in the church parlors yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Gould presiding.

Mrs. Maryatt had charge of the devotional services, opened by the short prayer of Mrs. Dablin. Two readings, one a favorite from James Whitcomb Riley and the other a comical monologue, were contributed by Mrs. Beebe, who received hearty applause.

All were pleased to learn that the pledge made by this society for their new church building, had been reduced one-half. Mrs. Maryatt passed around a paper, advocating peace, to be signed and sent to President Wilson.

After the business meeting, tea and wafers were served to the seventy members and visitors present.

Veteran Rebekahs Meet

The Veteran Rebekahs will hold their all-day meeting tomorrow at the I. O. O. F. hall, and every member is urged to be present.

INTERESTING MEETING

Ladies' Aid Society and W. H. M. S. Report Fine Progress During Past Months

The all-day meeting held yesterday by the ladies of the First Methodist church was well attended and greatly enjoyed by those present.

Mrs. Alice Yount presided over the meeting of the Ladies' Aid in the morning and the encouraging report was made of this society having paid all but $600 on its pledge of $2000 for the building improvement fund.

The Ladies' Aid Society will continue, during each Saturday of this month, the cooked food sales held at the Hill & Blauer grocery, and the next "At Home" will be held February 26 with Mrs. C. W. Burns.

After a bountiful noon-time luncheon had been enjoyed, Mrs. Dearing, president of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, opened the afternoon meeting with the singing of a favorite hymn, followed by Scripture reading and a few earnest words of prayer.

During the business session, this society planned to hold a three days' rummage sale in the near future. Mrs. J. W. Van Cleave, the Methodist Conference supply secretary, made an appeal for money with which to purchase single beds for the fifty-eight Mexican girls of the Frances De Par home in Los Angeles. A contribution of $35 was made and a number of comforters donated, the ladies planning to meet at the church next Wednesday to tie the comforters.

Mrs. W. B. Snow was in charge of the afternoon's excellent program, during which the mission study book, "In Red Man's Land," was commenced, the first chapter, "The Indian of Yesterday," proving to be highly interesting. Mesdames Peter Van Doren, C. W. Burns, P. P. Jayne, W. H. Smith, J. G. Quick and John Wehrly took part in the general discussion and brought out interesting points concerning the language of the Indian, his family life, training, pre-aupital customs, religion, the "medicine man" and the Redman's preparation for death and the future.

An attentive company enjoyed the informal afternoon's study, these topics being made both interesting and instructive to all present.

Farewell Party

Miss Lola Bullock entertained a few friends at her home last evening, in honor of Mr. Merle Thompson, who leaves soon to make his home at Fresno.

After numerous jokes and reminiscences of good times together had been enjoyed, Miss Alpha Porter gave several beautiful piano selections, followed by some exciting out-of-door games, the peals of merry laughter proclaiming the good time in progress. The hours passed on fleeting wings till the company was called to the dining room to enjoy a delicious supper.

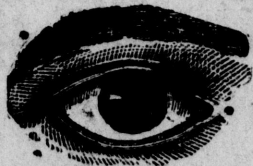

As a pleasant closing feature of the evening Miss Mae Wallace sweetly sang a number of favorite ballads, including "Just an Old Sweetheart of Mine."

URGES ATTENTION TO CENSUS ON SATURDAY

Those in charge of the Sunday school county-wide census to be taken Saturday, February 6, have issued the following:

"We are still urging the need for the keenest interest in this census-taking movement. The postponement of one week will not in any way be detrimental. It has given the leader in each district more time to perfect his organization, and has given each visitor opportunity to plan his work so as to make this movement most complete and effective. We are confident this canvass so commends itself to every visitor, that no sacrifice will seem too great to be made to secure the best results on Saturday morning, February 6."

PROBLEM OF MUNITIONS CONFRONTS WARRING NATIONS

By J. W. T. MASON, Former European Manager for the United Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Next week will see the first units of the new armies that have completed their six months training move to the front for the second offensive phase of the European war. How the proportion of fighting strength will be affected when both sides have completed their reinforcing movements can only be roughly approximated.

The basic difficulty does not relate to men but to munitions. All the nations are feeling the strain of supplying the enormous quantities of war stores the armies demand and all have more men than equipment. The problem of estimating what the new fighting strength of the rival forces will be is complicated by the inability of the world's war factories to keep up with the killing pace set on the battlefields.
The only official figures presented by the combatants are those issued by the French in December, which gave 2,236,000 as the German strength in the West and 924,000 as the German strength in the East. Both English and French reports confessed that the German western armies were numerically stronger than the allies, but not how much stronger.

London, however, has announced that there are now four British armies in France. The strength of a British army is probably two army corps of 35,000 each. This makes the British strength 280,000. It is possible that the Belgians have been able to keep up their strength of 50,000. The French strength cannot be greater than 1,700,000, because of the equipment problem, possibly not this much.
At most, the western allies have 2,230,000 troops or fully equipped, 200,- 000 less than the German strength in the West. Lord Kitchener's army of only other contestant.

At 2:30 the skaters had made 1000 laps. There are twenty-two laps to the mile. The race will be finished at about 9 o'clock tonight and is expected to be full of excitement.

Martin, the leader, was ahead of the other contestants by a half mile this afternoon.

SIDEWALK SPITTERS GET JOLT FROM BUNCH OF PITTSBURG WOMEN

PITTSBURG. — Pittsburgh's sidewalk spitters are wary today. The Woman's Public Health League recently held its annual revival and with zeal overflowing, its self constituted patrolresses are again on the job.

Led by Mrs. Winifred Sackville
Stoner and Miss Matilda Orr Hays, a squad of the patrolresses took no mercy and went forth to pick all offenders. After walking a mile or more about the business section they saw an Italian spit on the sidewalk. They let him go with a warning. Another mile yielded a fireman with a swollen jaw. He was sorry. The next spitter spotted was a man whose appearance suggested rare nationality. Mrs.
Stoner used Italian, Latin, Lithuanian, Greek, Polish and Hindustani without avail and became exasperated.

"I speak English, madam," the man said finally, grinning, "possibly you could make yourself plain if you did likewise."

Mrs. Stoner lost herself in smelling salts.

They walked three miles further and Mrs. C. L. Fenniken remarked that "They don't seem to be spitting today."

To the Pennsylvania station and there they found a man—William Wilson—ready to deny that he spat. He went along to a police station quietly and insisted upon a hearing. The sergeant drew an eye-brow on a cuspidor while thinking it over and let go with a 42-centimeter quid.

"Oh, gasped Mrs. Stoner.
"Do you know," said the leader, at the end of the day, "that many with his face full of tobacco was so disgusting. Really he was not so much of a gentleman as some of those who spit on the sidewalk." Then she turned to a reporter to express appreciation of the publicity given "the cause."

A LIVE SPORT LETTER

By Hal Sheridan

NEW YORK CITY. — Candidates for outfield berths on the Yankees this season will have to prove themselves as adept at handling ground balls as they are snaring the elusive fly before they can be sure of their jobs.

This is the latest ultimatum laid down by Manager Bill Donovan and only one of the several innovations Wild William is planning to introduce in the hope that the Hinglanders can be kicked back in the elite section of Ban Johnson's loop.

"Many is the game," soliloquized Bill recently, "I have lost myself and seen other pitchers lose through some gnat-headed outfielder kicking a ground ball clear to the fence."

In directing his gardeners toward this end, Wild Bill will be aided by Joe Kelley, one time famous outfielder on the Baltimore Orioles, and now chief ivory hunter for the Yankees.

"We used to do it in the old days," said Joe, the other day, "and I can't see why we can't do it now. Many is the time I have seen Hughie Jennings, McGraw and many other old stars work for hours at a stretch learning the hop of a ball over a certain bit of ground. An infielder isn't considered much of a man if he isn't a good judge of a fly-ball—then why shouldn't the outfielder be just as good a judge of a ground ball?"

Bob Shawkey just learned recently that he broke his hand in the world's series last October. The hand had been troubling him for some time and not long ago he had a doctor examine it. The examination showed that the two small bones in his right flipper was badly cracked. Shawkey lays the blame on to Rabbit Maranville.
He remembers, he said after stopping a sizzler off the Rabbit's bat, that his hand promised him. The M. D. fixed it up and promised Bob he would be as good as ever next season.

It is well to keep your troubles out of sight if you do not brood over them.

2,000,000 men ought to be fully equipped by spring, but it is improbable that the French will be able to add greatly to their forces. Filling up the depleted French ranks undoubtedly has made heavy demands on France's trained men. The French strength probably cannot be increased more than 200,000 by spring, making the total number of the allies in the West 3,300,000. It is reasonable to suppose that Germany can meet this new force, man for man, but it will not be necessary for her to do so if a purely defensive campaign is decided upon, since the allies have been able to hold their own with their numerical inferiority. Germany probably will consider herself capable of meeting the allies' 3,300,000 men with not more than 3,000,000.

The spring campaign in the West,
therefore, may see 6,300,000 men pitted against each other.

The eastern situation may develop so as to compel Germany to deplete still further her western fighting force.
This, in fact, is the unknown part of the problem. To Germany's present eastern force of 924,000 must be added probably 1,500,000 Austrians, making a total of 2,424,000. Russia has probably approximately the same number.

Austria and Germany may be able to raise a joint strength of 3,000,000 men by spring. Whether Russia can surpass this is uncertain, but it is improbable. If the Slavs do no more than equal the strength of the Teutonic alliance, there will be a total of 6,000,000 on the eastern battle line, excluding the Turkish and Servian campaigns. Possibly there are 700,000 more there.

The completed total of the fighting men that spring may see at all fronts, therefore, is approximately 13,000,000.

8000 CARRANZAISTAS MEET SEVERE DEFEAT AT HANDS OF VILLAISTAS

EL PASO, Feb. 4.—The defeat of 8000 Carranzistas by the Villaistas in the state of Jalisco is confirmed by dispatches today. Several hundred were killed and wounded in a battle lasting three days. The battle followed the earlier defeat of the Villaistas near San Luis Potosi.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 4.—Several were killed and more wounded in a mutiny among Yaqui Indians at Guaymas yesterday, according to a wireless received here today. The mutiny occurred when the Indians were ordered to join a military movement against the Car-ranzistas who had attacked the Villistas. No foreigners are reported injured, though the wireless account carried no details.

WAR ODDITIES

AMSTERDAM.—It is reported from a Walloon village that the inhabitants are compelled to eat a kind of maize bread, which is ordinarily fed to pigons. They take their troubles philosophically, however, and instead of saying "Good Morning" coo like pigions when they meet.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

This week will see the last storage eggs in Los Angeles out of the hands of the dealers. A careful census of the situation yesterday morning developed the fact that the largest holder at that time still had 119 cases, and that from there down to 12 cases was the holding of the remaining eight or nine dealers who held some stock of this character, making a total of less than 400 cases in Los Angeles.
The eggs are selling at 20 to 23 cents a dozen at this time. Local fresh eggs declined to 24 cents on the first arrival of the year that has exceeded 500 cases, total receipts being 519 cases. In San Francisco the market dropped to 23 1/2 cents on case count.
There was a good demand for the product. Storage butter is in the same class as storage eggs, practically all gone. Receipts were 35,100 pounds.
The market here stayed at 27, and in the north was stationary at 26 1/2.
There was no great activity in cheese, and the market was normal. Receipts were 1180 pounds.

The potato market slacked off 5 cents yesterday morning, dropping the gain made two days previous. Stock on hand is plentiful, and the report of the Department of Agriculture on potato holdings throughout the United States was also a decided argument against further advances.

The statements we've been making from time to time regarding conditions in the Templeton-Paso Robles dis-knowledge of the facts, or have only made an indifferent investigation, but facts never-

Our statements of the probable future of the district have, of course, been predictions based upon those facts and our observations of what has taken place in many other meritorious sections of Cal-

by us as to the future of the locality is being more than justified by the happenings of the past two years, at a time too, when development in many localities has been at a standstill or slipping back.
Most of the development now being done there, with the exception of an eight million dollar project, is by men from Orange county and other parts of Southern California, mostly men of the hard-head-

fruit and nut growing and

FEW CHANGES IN CONTROLLING BOARDS

Drainage and Protective Districts Hold Their Elections Yesterday

Elections held yesterday in the Newbert Protection District and the Talbert, Delhi and Newport Drainage districts resulted in but few changes in the directorates. Several interesting and close contests developed.

The closest was that between F. D. Plavan and Rene Callens in one of the divisions of the Newbert Protection District, which has charge of the Santa Ana river channel and dykes from the Santiago junction to tidewater. Plavan was filling out an unexpired term, and was a candidate for election. He defeated Callens by a vote of 18 to 16.

For director of the protective district Leo Borchard defeated Louis Bushard, and H. L. Wakeman was re-elected from the Old Newport division.

In Talbert Drainage District S. W. Price defeated J. C. McDowell, a present director, by a 12 to 5 vote. Leo Borchard was also re-elected a director of that district.

No changes were made in the Delhi or Newport districts. Mike Babylon was re-elected, R. J. Webster receiving 5 votes, J. B. Chase 1 and Babylon 8, as a director of the Delhi district. Daniel Boyd was re-elected by a vote of 16 to 12, against G. W. Guyan. In the Newport Drainage district D. W. Ellis was re-elected, getting eleven votes to two for R. W. McClain.

3 ORANGE YOUTHS ARE HELD TO ANSWER IN SUPERIOR COURT

Willard Shadel, Vernon Thompson and Farley Sutton, charged with stealing cases of cyanide at Orange, were held to answer in the superior court this morning in Justice Armer's court.

The preliminary hearing of J. H. Whalley and A. Laswell, charged with complicity in the theft of the poison from the Foothill Valencia Growers' Association, was held this afternoon. At both the morning and afternoon trials there were more than 200 persons present. The cases are attracting a great deal of interest at Orange owing to the prominence of those involved.

The three youths testified this morning that they had approached Laswell, a fumigator, before stealing the cyanide and that he had agreed to pay for it and show the boys where to get it. Whalley, in whose barn two cases of the poison were found, went with the boys to deliver the stuff to Laswell, according to the boys' testimony.

AT THE COURTHOUSE JURY DECLARES GARCIA GUILTY

Man Officers Say is Connected With Thieving Gang is to Be Sentenced

The jury that tried Gregorio Garcia on a charge of stealing a $75 buggy from Bert Annin of Fullerton found him guilty. He will be sentenced by Judge West on Friday.

The officers believe that Garcia is a member of a gang of Mexicans who have been doing no small amount of stealing in the Cypress and Garden Grove country. Garcia was arrested by G. C. Law when he was under sheriff, after the buggy had been traced to a willow thicket near Arcadia, where the wheels were painted orange, and thence to San Gabriel, where Garcia was arrested.

Suit Over Alleys

W. H. Fowler is plaintiff in an action brought against A. F. Lindner. Clyde Bishop is attorney for the plaintiff. Fowler asserts that last summer he paid Lindner, then living at Corona, $1500 for four alleys and a bowling outfit in Pasadena. Afterward Fowler says he found that Lindner did not own the alleys. He asks $1350 damages.

Decries the Action

Frank T. Kuranaga says that his wife, Lecomma, is taking another chance at getting a divorce decree against him. He says she tried it in Los Angeles and failed, then came here for three months and established a residence—a not uncommon practice—so that she could sue for divorce here. In an affidavit filed yesterday he declares that she does not now live in this county, but really lives outside of the state. Kuranaga lives in Los Angeles.

Final Decree

A final decree of divorce has been granted Frank E. Harlan against Ellenora Harlan.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandarine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If it surely gets a 25-cent bottle of Dandarine from any drug store, toilet counter, and just try it.—Advertisement.

JUST A JOKE ON MORROW

E. S. Morrow, the popular manager in Orange county for the Great Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Co., very properly prides himself on his good manners and genteel appearance—that is, it is reasonable to presume that he does, for he has a right to do so—and he drives a real automobile and keeps it clean and shiny. And Morrow is nothing if not accommodating; and where a lady is concerned he is a regular Sir Walter Raleigh—he would throw his overcoat in the mud any old day to make a dry path for a lady.

Well, the other day Morrow was loading along in his auto when he espied a lady apparently waiting on the corner for a street car. He drove up to the curb and in his very best manner asked if he couldn't give her a lift on her way.

The lady graciously accepted the proffered courtesy and chatted pleasantly with the gallant telephone man until they arrived at a point where she desired to alight.

Then Morrow got the jolt of his life. The lady tendered him a nickel. "Beg pardon, ma'am, but what's the idea?" asked Morrow.

"Why, isn't the fare five cents?" said the fair one.

"Again begging your pardon ma'am, permit me to inform you that this is no 'jitney' bus," said Morrow, and he didn't smile when he said it, either. "Jitney, huh!" said Morrow to himself as he threw in his clutch.

SHOWS INDICATE REFINEMENT, LUXURY

Automobile Exhibits Reveal
Painstaking Thought in Construction

8-CYLINDER V-TYPE
LATEST DEPARTURE

1915 American Bodies Rival
Best of Those Produced
in Europe

The auto shows this year reveal the most painstaking thought in design and in the mechanical handling of the minutest details of automobile construction. The shows indicate, if anything, luxurious refinement.

Manual labor connected with the operation and care of the car is being relegated to the past by power pumps for tires, for cleaning, for forcing the gasolene to the engine, and by power starting of the motor. More automatic methods of gear shifting are employed, and new devices for this purpose are shown.

Demountable rims are more and more in evidence; better and more accessible carrying space for tires and luggage is also a feature. One-man tops for touring cars are being offered in large numbers, and are rapidly being made so that they fulfill the name given them.

Eight-Cylinders Introduced
In regard to motor construction the most noticeable development is undoubtedly the introduction of the eight-cylinder V-type as standard equipment. At least two well known makers are using such engines this year, although this is not an entirely new development, still this is the first year that they have been offered as regular models. Simplicity of design seems also to be one of the objective points of the makers, the en bloc construction being shown on more models than ever before. Sleeve valve engines are also increasing in numbers. It is now exceptional to find moving parts exposed.

Some Crudities
In spite of all this good work, however, the carburetor intake is still open to the hood space which is filled with dust and dirt sucked by the fan through the radiator. This is one of the crudities which is largely responsible for the necessity for annually overhauling the motor and removing the so-called carbon, much of which is road dirt forced into the engine through the carburetor.

Electric lights are practically universal. Indirect lighting of closed bodies has been introduced this year. All of the six-cylinder cars are fitted with starters, and there is a big increase in the electric starters on the large fours.

American Bodies Rival Europe
Body designs have received more than their usual amount of attention, which is natural at this stage of the evolution of the industry. In America as in Europe, the body is assuming greater and greater importance. American body makers have made tremendous strides. Last year American bodies vied with the best from the coach builders of Europe. At the one show where foreign bodies have always held sway, the Automobile Salon in New York, this year coincident with the New York Show, the American built bodies are equal to or even exceeds in magnificence and luxury the finest creations of the leading European carroseries. American bodies are now being shipped abroad, which marks the beginning of American body supremacy, as is now conceded to the American chassis of even less price than made abroad.

Bodies Are Light
American body builders excel in the use of metal, particularly aluminum, which lends itself more readily to unusual shapes than wood, which is almost exclusively used abroad. Since metal bodies are now welded, almost any construction is possible, as joints can be made which are impossible to find and which will not open up. These American bodies are light for their strength, and can be finished in far less time both as to the construction and the painting.

The streamline type of body has apparently come to stay as the basis of body construction; although many variations are to be seen, still the streamline form dominates all of them. Crowned fenders and protecting shields are almost universally used on 1915 models.

The small coupe body has increased in popularity with each succeeding year. Closed bodies, in general, and means for converting open into closed bodies are increasing. The designs are better and when in position harmonize and form a unit with the supporting body.

Seating Arrangements
The seating arrangements are also gradually undergoing a change; an attempt is being made for a freer and less stiff arrangement so that the occupants are not of necessity have to face always in one direction. This is indicated by the introduction of the so-called Pullman body with individual

APPROACHING CLEEK IS BEST ON THE SHORTHAND COURSES

By BOB SIMPSON

The approaching cleek or jigger is the club most generally used on the hard courses here. It is played somewhat differently from a midiron or mashie. Those most successful in the use of this club use a shot that years ago in Scotland was termed a stab or jab.

To play this shot, as with all shots where it is necessary to hit the ground, one must keep a very tight grip on the club with both hands. Keep the left arm stiff in the backward swing, but in this shot the right arm is used considerably in hitting the ball. The right hand and wrist are turned over a little, causing the club to be faced downward, which will keep the ball low and give it the forward spin necessary to make it run.

Stop Club Quickly
Be careful in playing this shot not to lean the right shoulder into the ball too much or you will be liable to hit off the socket, a fault very common when the left arm is not kept as the guide.

Do not try to follow through in this shot. Stop the club as quickly as possible with the arms straight. Be careful not to bend the left elbow too soon. If this is done the player will find himself topping, a grave fault but one that should not be hard to remedy by holding the head steady and the arms rigid.

Aim in back of the ball as if you were trying to drive the ball into the ground with the face of your club. You will find that the ball will rise all right.

Clubs Will Raise Ball
A mistake made by a great many beginners is that they always are trying to lift the ball with the iron clubs and in doing so bend their elbows too soon, instead of hitting at it and letting the clubs do so. The clubs are made with the proper amount of loft for certain shots and if hit properly the ball will get up high enough to suit the player.

Use the nible in getting out bunks and don't make the mistake of trying to get the ball out too clean. Lay back the face and let the club strike the same one or one and one-half inches behind the ball. Then lift it quickly, pulling the left arm and raising the right straight as with the mashie or midiron shot on the fair green. This will lift the club in such a way that should get you well out of trouble.

Practice, practice, practice and a steady nerve will be found of more value to the golfer than all the advice in the world.

ARMY AND NAVY CORRESPONDENT GIVES COMPANY L HIGH PRAISE

BY CAPTAIN ROY S. TINNEY
(Field Correspondent of the "Army and Navy News")

It may seem unnecessary for me, a corporation lawyer with journalistic tendencies, to comment upon the work of such able officers as Captain McBride and Lieutenants Knight and Turner. And I regret that the task cannot be turned over to the able pen of an old comrade of mine, a grizzled old journalist who reported the Yanko-Spanko disturbance and has since circled the globe, recording the eccentricities of Mars. Shortly after Bob disposed of the "Bull-Con" Allies, we joined forces to study Mexico and things Mexican, thereby learning to appreciate the virtues of "watchful waiting."

The National Guardsman has always a warm spot in my heart, and as I myself served in the Guards, it sounds to me like a call from times long past and from the shores of the distant Atlantic whenever I hear the word "Guards" mentioned. And now that we have discovered that someone put a dream-pill in the pipe of peace, and our chief executive has told us that the integrity of this country can only be maintained by "an armed citizenry trained in the art of war," I take advantage of editorial good nature to give you a few facts concerning Company L.

My first impression upon going through the armory was that of system and order, a place for everything and everything in its place. Suddenly there sounded the tramp of feet and the company filed through the hall to drill in the open air. They passed very close to me and right there I conducted an unofficial inspection of the personnel. For the next hour I watched them drill, march and counter-march, and while I am not going to magnify the truth by saying they worked with the precision of regulars, I must, in simple justice, say that they displayed a promptness in executing orders and an eagerness to improve that more than compensated for any inaccuracies in their movements.

A glance at the bulletin board showed me instantly the thoroughness and care with which the officers kept their records and a subsequent inspection of the files more than verified my first impression. The quartermaster's room was a model of system and neatness, the men's lockers were roomy and well kept, and best of all I did not find a dirty gun in the outfit.

After drill there was held the first of a series of athletic evenings which have been arranged by Company L, before an audience of over a hundred.

Lieut. Ralph, battalion adjutant of the Second Wisconsin Infantry, was present, and at the close of the evening I felt a genial atmosphere of good-fellowship that made me very comfortable, yet the discipline and courtesy maintained would have done credit to a regular post. In fact, the men, one and all, from the "buck private" to the "K. O." displayed an "esprit de corps" that was not only commendable but extremely effective.

And, therefore, I would suggest to chair seats. Disappearing seats and sliding seats are to be found in nearly all of the enclosed car designs. An aisle between the two front seats is also a feature of 1915 models.

the people of Santa Ana who have boys just sprouting into manhood, that you send them around to the Armory some Monday evening. The boys will like what they find there, for the officers are fine fellows and the personnel are a clean, upstanding lot. Yes, the boy will enjoy it and you will enjoy noting the subtle yet steady improvement in your son. Gradually his shoulders will lose the slight stoop induced by the rapidity of his growth during his early teens, there's a sureness to his step and a poise to his head you never observed before, his movements possess both quickness and precision and presently from out of your boy's eyes comes the look of a man—that clear, level gaze that is the badge of efficiency the world over.

All over the world the name "Guards" is applied to a body of picked men who are especially trusted. In Europe we have the Imperial Guards, the Royal Guards, and the Swiss Guards of the Pope. The United States is the only country in the world that has the National Guards, picked men of the nation, sworn to protect the nation, its constitution and its laws.

This army of citizen soldiers is the real safeguard of the nation. Little Switzerland, the neutrality of which is vouched for by the great powers of Europe, compels every able-bodied man to serve from one to three years and no country has a higher type of manly men than Switzerland, none any more patriotic.

The National Guard is a splendid school for these reasons: No man is fit to command who has not learned to obey. No man can make a better father of his boys than the man who has learned the value of discipline in the ranks. The man who is trained in the many arts of boxing, fencing, wrestling and shooting is always the least bombastic and the most peaceable, because he is aware of his advantage, and there is no more humane man than the one who has smelled powder and has experienced that "War is hell." The hilt of the sword is peace—personal, national and international.

Forgive those who condemn the army, the navy, and most of all, the National Guard. They are spineless cacti, they are individuals in trousers subject to hysteria, addicted to coca-cola and grape-juice, who do not know what they are doing. They are not manly enough for any man to raise his hand against them. They are always busy trying to be their brother's keeper, but seldom able to keep them selves.

It is a luminous fact that Santa Ana has one of the most efficient companies of National Guardsmen in the West. No matter what one's opinion in civil life is of one or the other of the members, as a body of citizen soldiers they are a splendid lot and a great credit to Santa Ana.

Therefore: Attention! Present arms to the captain and his staff, and give three cheers for the boys—they are ours.

FOR ONE OF BOUTS

Athletic Club to Put on a Gym and Dancing Exhibition Soon

The date for the Santa Ana Athletic Club wrestling and boxing tournament has been set for February 17.

Any boxer or wrestler who is desirous of showing his qualities is urged to enter this contest and begin training at once. Charley Wilson, a former army wrestler, is already in training and will probably be matched with Bob Bunch for what is quite likely to be a lively affair.

Boys like Snodgrass, Deacons, Mathews and several others have already entered the tournament. It is altogether likely that several boys from Los Angeles will also enter especially from the Western A. C. Vernon A. C. and the St. Joseph Y. M. C.

This tournament will be a preliminary affair with another of a similar character to follow it a month later. It is planned to work up a little interest among the local boxers and in that way furnish a little entertainment and pastime for the lovers of boxing and wrestling.

"If you are a boxer or a wrestler, now is your time to get busy," said R. R. Foley today. "Full information can be had by calling at the athletic club."

Gym Exhibition
A big gym and dancing exhibition will be held at the athletic club on Wednesday, February 24, by members of the different classes, assisted by some outside talent. The program will consist of dancing, boxing, wrestling, work on the parallel bars, horse and rings, with extra attractions to furnish a little variety. After the program there will be an informal dance and general good time.

DEALERS PROVIDING FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF LADY MOTORISTS

Local garage men are coming more and more to realize the importance of providing for the comfort and convenience of the lady motorist. The steadily increasing number of women who are driving their own cars has made it imperative for the downtown-minute dealer to fit up attractive rooms where the fair automobilist and her friends may go while waiting for accessories, gasoline or repairs.

One of the most comfortable and attractive rooms in any local garage is being built by George E. Kellogg at his Auburn garage, 292½ North Main street. The room is to be nicely appointed in every detail. Easy chairs and a lounge, with pretty hangings, carpets and pictures will be used to fit up the room and will make it one of the coziest in the city.

Kellogg has taken over the entire garage. Part of it was occupied until recently by Ellis H. Smith, local Hummobile agent. The new rest-room is located at the southwest corner of the garage, formerly used by Kellogg to display his accessories. The office and accessory department has been moved to the northwest corner. There Kellogg will have on hand at all times a complete stock of oils, greases, Lee tires and Stromberg carburetors.

The remodeling of the local Auburn home will be completed by the middle of next week, Kellogg states.

FEW CHANGES IN CONTROLLING BOARDS

Drainage and Protective Districts Hold Their Elections Yesterday

Elections held yesterday in the Newbert Protection District and the Talbert, Delhi and Newport Drainage districts resulted in but few changes in the directorates. Several interesting and close contests developed.

The closest was that between F. D. Plavan and Rene Callens in one of the divisions of the Newbert Protection District, which has charge of the Santa Ana river channel and dykes from the Santiago junction to tidewater. Plavan was filling out an unexpired term, and was a candidate for election. He defeated Callens by a vote of 18 to 16.

For director of the protective district Leo Borchard defeated Louis Bushard, and H. L. Wakeman was re-elected from the Old Newport division.

In Talbert Drainage District S. W. Price defeated J. C. McDowell, a present director, by a 12 to 5 vote. Leo Borchard was also re-elected a director of that district.

No changes were made in the Delhi or Newport districts. Mike Babylon was re-elected, R. J. Webster receiving 5 votes, J. B. Chase 1 and Baynon 8, as a director of the Delhi district. Daniel Boyd was re-elected by a vote of 16 to 12, against G. W. Gynn. In the Newport Drainage district D. W. Ellis was re-elected, getting eleven votes to two for R. W. McClain.

3 ORANGE YOUTHS ARE HELD TO ANSWER IN SUPERIOR COURT

Willard Shadel, Vernon Thompson and Farley Sutton, charged with stealing cases of cyanide at Orange, were held to answer in the superior court this morning in Justice Armer's court. The preliminary hearing of J. H. Whalley and A. Laswell, charged with complicity in the theft of the poison from the Foothill Valencia Growers' Association, was held this afternoon.

At both the morning and afternoon trials there were more than 200 persons present. The cases are attracting a great deal of interest at Orange owing to the prominence of those involved.

The three youths testified this morning that they had approached Laswell, a fumigator, before stealing the cyanide and that he had agreed to pay for it and show the boys where to get it. Whalley, in whose barn two cases of the poison were found, went with the boys to deliver the stuff to Laswell, according to the boys' testimony.

JURY DECLARES GARCIA GUILTY

Man Officers Say is Connected With Thieving Gang is to Be Sentenced

The jury that tried Gregorio Garcia on a charge of stealing a $75 buggy from Bert Annin of Fullerton found him guilty. He will be sentenced by Judge West on Friday.

The officers believe that Garcia is a member of a gang of Mexicans who have been doing no small amount of stealing in the Cypress and Garden Grove country. Garcia was arrested by G. C. Law, when he was under sheriff, after the buggy had been traced to a willow thicket near Artesia, where the wheels were painted orange, and thence to San Gabriel, where Garcia was arrested.

Suit Over Alloys

W. H. Fowler is plaintiff in an action brought against A. F. Lindner. Clyde Bishop is attorney for the plaintiff. Fowler asserts that last summer he paid Lindner, then living at Corona, $1500 for four alloys and a bowling outfit in Pasadena. Afterward Fowler says he found that Lindner did not own the alloys. He asks $1350 damages.

Decries the Action

Frank T. Kuranaga says that his wife, Lileanna, is taking another chance at getting a divorce decree against him. He says she tried it in Los Angeles and failed, then came here for three months and established a residence—a not uncommon practice—so that she could sue for divorce here. In an affidavit filed yesterday he declares that she does not now live in this county, but really lives outside of the state. Kuranaga lives in Los Angeles.

Final Decree

A final decree of divorce has been granted Frank E. Harlan against Ellenora Harlan.

CABINET MEMBERS TALK TO MEN OF BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The attitude of the administration toward American investors in foreign countries was outlined today before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at today's session of its annual convention.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo discussed the development of the American Merchant Marine, reporting on the growth of American flag shipping since restrictions of registration were removed. Senator Theodore Burton of Ohio, Joseph E. Davies, commissioner of corporations, Paul T. Cherrington and Harry A. Wheeler, the latter members of the organization, were among the speakers today. Secretary of Commerce Redfield and Hon. Charles H. Hamlin, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, will speak at the banquet tonight.

JUST A JOKE ON MORROW

E. S. Morrow, the popular manager in Orange county for the great Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Co., very properly prides himself on his good manners and genteel appearance—that is, it is reasonable to presume that he does, for he has a right to do so,—and he drives a real automobile and keeps it clean and shiny.

And Morrow is nothing if not accommodating; and where a lady is concerned he is a regular Sir Walter Raleigh—he would throw his overcoat in the mud any old day to make a dry path for a lady.

Well, the other day Morrow was loading along in his auto when he espied a lady apparently waiting on the corner for a street car. He drove up to the curb and in his very best manner asked if he couldn't give her a lift on her way.

The lady graciously accepted the proffered courtesy and chatted pleasantly with the gallant telephone man until they arrived at a point where she desired to alight.

Then Morrow got the jolt of his life. The lady tendered him a nickel. "Beg pardon, ma'am, but what's the idea?" asked Morrow.

"Why isn't the fare five cents?" said the fair one.

"Again begging your pardon ma'am, permit me to inform you that this is no 'jitney' bus," said Morrow, and he didn't smile when he said it, either. "Jitney, huh!" said Morrow to himself as he threw in his clutch.

SHOWS INDICATE REFINEMENT, LUXURY

Automobile Exhibits Reveal
Painstaking Thought in Construction

8-CYLINDER V-TYPE
LATEST DEPARTURE

1915 American Bodies Rival
Best of Those Produced
in Europe

The auto shows this year reveal the most painstaking thought in design and in the mechanical handling of the minutest details of automobile construction. The shows indicate, if anything, luxurious refinement.

Manual labor connected with the operation and care of the car is being relegated to the past by power pumps for tires, for cleaning, for forcing the gasoline to the engine, and by power starting of the motor. More automatic methods of gear shifting are employed, and new devices for this purpose are shown.

Demountable rims are more and more in evidence; better and more accessible carrying space for tires and luggage is also a feature. One-man tops for touring cars are being offered in large numbers, and are rapidly being made so that they fulfill the name given them.

Eight-Cylinders Introduced
In regard to motor construction the most noticeable development is undoubtedly the introduction of the eight-cylinder V-type as standard equipment. At least two well known makers are using such engines this year, although this is not an entirely new development, still this is the first year that they have been offered as regular models. Simplicity of design seems also to be one of the objective points of the makers, the end block construction being shown on more models than ever before. Sleeve valve engines are also increasing in numbers. It is now exceptional to find moving parts exposed.

Some Crudities
In spite of all this good work, however, the carburetor intake is still open to the hood space which is filled with dust and dirt sucked by the fan through the radiator. This is one of the crudities which is largely responsible for the necessity for annually overhauling the motor and removing the so-called carbon, much of which is road dirt forced into the engine through the carburetor.

Electric lights are practically universal. Indirect lighting of closed bodies has been introduced this year. All of the six-cylinder cars are fitted with starters, and there is a big increase in the electric starters on the large fours.

American Bodies Rival Europe
Body designs have received more than their usual amount of attention, which is natural at this stage of the evolution of the industry. In America as in Europe, the body is assuming greater and greater importance. American body makers have made tremendous strides. Last year American bodies vied with the best from the coach builders of Europe. At the one show where foreign bodies have always held sway, the Automobile Salon in New York, this year coincident with the New York Show, the American built body is equal to or even exceeds in magnificence and luxury the finest creations of the leading European carroseries. American bodies are now being shipped abroad, which marks the beginning of American body supremacy, as is now conceded to the American chassis of even less price than made abroad.

Bodies Are Light
American body builders excel in the use of metal, particularly aluminum, which lends itself more readily to unusual shapes than wood, which is almost exclusively used abroad. Since metal bodies are now welded, almost any construction is possible, as joints can be made which are impossible to find and which will not open up. These American bodies are light for their strength, and can be finished in far less time both as to the construction and the painting.

The streamline type of body has apparently come to stay as the basis of body construction; although many variations are to be seen, still the streamline form dominates all of them. Crowned fenders and protecting shields are almost universally used on 1915 models.

The small coupe body has increased in popularity with each succeeding year. Closed bodies, in general, and means for converting open into closed bodies are increasing. The designs are better and when in position harmonize and form a unit with the supporting body.

Seating Arrangements
The seating arrangements are also gradually undergoing a change; an attempt is being made for a freer and less stiff arrangement so that the occupants can easily assume different positions and not of necessity have to face always in one direction. This is indicated by the introduction of the so-called Pullman body with individual

APPROACHING CLEEK IS BEST ON THE SHORTHAND COURSES

By BOB SIMPSON

The approaching cleek or jigger is the club most generally used on the hard courses here. It is played somewhat differently from a midiron or mashie. Those most successful in the use of this club use a shot that years ago in Scotland was termed a stab or jab.

To play this shot, as with all shots where it is necessary to hit the ground, one must keep a very tight grip on the club with both hands. Keep the left arm stiff in the backward swing, but in this shot the right arm is used considerably in hitting the ball. The right hand and wrist are turned over a little, causing the club to be faced downward, which will keep the ball low and give it the forward spin necessary to make it run.

Stop Club Quickly
Be careful in playing this shot not to lean the right shoulder into the ball too much or you will be liable to hit off the socket, a fault very common when the left arm is not kept as the guide.

Do not try to follow through in this shot. Stop the club as quickly as possible with the arms straight. Be careful not to bend the left elbow too soon. If this is done the player will find himself topping, a grave fault but one that should not be hard to remedy by holding the head steady and the arms rigid.

Aim in back of the ball as if you were trying to drive the ball into the ground with the face of your club. You will find that the ball will rise all right.

Clubs Will Raise Ball
A mistake made by a great many beginners is that they always are trying to lift the ball with the iron clubs and in doing so bend their elbows too soon, instead of hitting at it and letting the club do so. The clubs are made with the proper amount of loft for certain shots and if hit properly the ball will get up high enough to suit the player.

Use the nibble in getting out bunks and don't make the mistake of trying to get the ball out too clean. Lay back the face and let the club strike the same one or one and one-half inches behind the ball. Then lift it quickly, pulling the left arm and raising the right straight as with the mashie or midiron shot on the fair green. This will lift the club in such a way that should get you well out of trouble.

Practice, practice, practice and a steady nerve will be found of more value to the golfer than all the advice in the world.

ARMY AND NAVY CORRESPONDENT GIVES COMPANY L HIGH PRAISE

BY CAPTAIN ROY S. TINNEY
(Field Correspondent of the "Army and Navy News")

It may seem unnecessary for me, a corporation lawyer with journalistic tendencies, to comment upon the work of such able officers as Captain McBride and Lieutenants Knight and Turner. And I regret that the task cannot be turned over to the able pen of an old comrade of mine, a grizzled old journalist who reported the Yank-Spanko disturbance and has since circled the globe, recording the eccentricities of Mars. Shortly after Bob disposed of the "Bull-Conn" Allies, we joined forces to study Mexico and things Mexican, thereby learning to appreciate the virtues of "watchful waiting."

The National Guardsman has always a warm spot in my heart, and as I myself served in the Guards, it sounds to me like a call from times long past and from the shores of the distant Atlantic whenever I hear the word "Guards" mentioned. And now that we have discovered that someone put a dream-pill in the pipe of peace, and our chief executive has told us that the integrity of this country can only be maintained by "an armed citizenry trained in the art of war," I take advantage of editorial good nature to give you a few facts concerning Company L.

My first impression upon going through the army was that of system and order, a place for everything and everything in its place. Suddenly there sounded the tramp of feet and the company filed through the hall to drill in the open air. They passed very close to me and right there I conducted an unofficial inspection of the personnel. For the next hour I watched them drill, march and count-march, and while I am not going to magnify the truth by saying they worked with the precision of regulars, I must, in simple justice, say that they displayed a promptness in executing orders and an eagerness to improve themselves that compensated for any inaccuracies in their movements. A glance at the bulletin board showed me instantly the thoroughness and care with which the officers kept their records and a subsequent inspection of the files more than verified my first impression. The quartermaster's room was a model of system and neatness, the men's lockers were roomy and well kept, and best of all I did not find a dirty gun in the outfit.

After drill there was held the first of a series of athletic evenings which have been arranged by Company L, before an audience of over a hundred. Lieut. Ralph, battalion adjutant of the Second Wisconsin Infantry, was present, and he remarked: "All during the evening I felt a genial atmosphere of good-fellowship that made me very comfortable, yet the discipline and courtesy maintained would have done credit to a regular post. In fact, the men, one and all, from the 'buck private' to the 'K. O.' displayed an 'esprit de corps' that was not only commendable but extremely effective." And, therefore, I would suggest to the people of Santa Ana who have boys just sprouting into manhood, that you send them around to the Armory some Monday evening. The boys will like what they find there, for the officers are fine fellows and the personnel are a clean, upstanding lot. Yes, the boy will enjoy it and you will enjoy noting the subtle yet steady improvement in your son. Gradually his shoulders will lose the slight stoop induced by the rapidity of his growth during his early teens, there's a sureness to his step and a poise to his head you never observed before, his movements possess both quickness and precision and presently from out of your boy's eyes comes the look of a man—that clear, level gaze that is the badge of efficiency the world over.

All over the world the name "Guards" is applied to a body of picked men who are especially trusted. In Europe we have the Imperial Guards, the Royal Guards, and the Swiss Guards of the Pope. The United States is the only country in the world that has the National Guards, picked men of the nation, sworn to protect the nation, its constitution and its laws.

This army of citizen soldiers is the real safeguard of the nation. Little Switzerland, the neutrality of which is vouched for by the great powers of Europe, compels every able-bodied man to serve from one to three years and no country has a higher type of manly men than Switzerland, none any more patriotic.

The National Guard is a splendid school for these reasons: No man is fit to command who has not learned to obey. No man can make a better father of his boys than the man who has learned the value of discipline in the ranks. The man who is trained in the many arts of boxing, fencing, wrestling and shooting is always the least bombastic and the most peaceable, because he is aware of his advantage, and there is no more humane man than the one who has smelled powder and has experienced that "War is hell." The hilt of the sword is peace—personal, national and international.

Forgive those who condemn the army, the navy, and most of all, the National Guard. They are spineless cacti, they are individuals in trousers subject to hysteria, addicted to coca-cola and grape-juice, who do not know what they are doing. They are not manly enough for any man to raise his hand against them. They are always busy trying to be their brother's keeper, but seldom able to keep themselves.

It is a luminous fact that Santa Ana has one of the most efficient companies of National Guardsmen in the West. No matter what one's opinion in civil life is of one or the other of the members, as a body of citizen soldiers they are a splendid lot and a great credit to Santa Ana.

Therefore, Attention! Present arms to the captain and his staff, and give three cheers for the boys—they are ours.

Athletic Club to Put on a Gym and Dancing Exhibition Soon

The date for the Santa Ana Athletic Club wrestling and boxing tournament has been set for February 17.

Any boxer or wrestler who is desirous of showing his qualities is urged to enter this contest and begin training at once. Charles Wilson, a former army wrestler, is already in training and will probably be matched with Bob Bunch for what is quite likely to be a lively affair.

Boys like Snodgrass, Deacons, Mathews and several others have already entered the tournament. It is altogether likely that several boys from Los Angeles will also enter especially from the Western A. C., Vernon A. C. and the St. Joseph Y. M. C.

This tournament will be a preliminary affair with another of a similar character to follow it a month later. It is planned to work up a little interest among the local boxers and in that way furnish a little entertainment and pastime for the lovers of boxing and wrestling.

"If you are a boxer or a wrestler, now is your time to get busy," said R. R. Foley today. "Full information can be had by calling at the athletic club."

Gym Exhibition
A big gym and dancing exhibition will be held at the athletic club on Wednesday, February 24, by members of the different classes, assisted by some outside talent. The program will consist of dancing, boxing, wrestling, work on the parallel bars, horse and rings, with extra attractions to furnish a little variety. After the program there will be an informal dance and general good time.

DEALERS PROVIDING FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF LADY MOTORISTS

Local garage men are coming more and more to realize the importance of providing for the comfort and convenience of the lady motorist. The steadily increasing number of women who are driving their own cars has made it imperative for the down-to-the-minute dealer to fit up attractive rooms where the fair automobilist and her friends may go while waiting for accessories, gasoline or repairs.

One of the most comfortable and attractive rooms in any local garage is being built by George E. Kellogg at his Auburn garage, 292½ North Main street. The room is to be nicely appointed in every detail. Easy chairs and a lounge, with pretty hangings, carpets and pictures will be used to fit up the room and will make it one of the coziest in the city.

Kellogg has taken over the entire garage. Part of it was occupied until recently by Ellis H. Smith, local Hupmobile agent. The new rest-room is located at the southwest corner of the garage, formerly used by Kellogg to display his accessories. The office and accessory department has been moved to the northwest corner. There Kellogg will have on hand at all times a complete stock of oils, greases, Lee tires and Stromberg carburetors.

The remodeling of the local Auburn home will be completed by the middle of next week, Kellogg states.

WAR CRY RAISED BY HEDDERLY NOT ECHOED HERE

So Far as Cleveland Forest Goes, Reserve is Just What the Hunters Want

LOS ANGELES MAN IS AGAINST NEW BILL

Says Angeles Forest Reserve
Proposed Will Slaughter
a Lot of Sport

Edwin L. Hedderly, a gun club member and a sporting writer, breaks forth in the Los Angeles Times this morning with a war-cry to sportsmen in which he calls to battle those who would oppose a measure placing the Angeles forest into a state game preserve. Incidentally he seizes a bill backed by sportsmen in this county and flings it into his argument, making it appear that these game preserves will do away with hunting in Southern California.

Well, let them campaign as they please against the proposed Angeles game preserve, but for the love of Mike, Bro. Hedderly, get right about the Cleveland forest reserve.

Hedderly's article says: "Senator Anderson has introduced in the Legislature a bill making of the entire Angeles National Forest a game reserve wherein no shooting shall be permitted.

"The Angeles Forest Reserve comprises the entire stretch of mountain ranges from the Southern Pacific right-of-way in the Soledad canyon on the east, to Beaumont.

"With the exception of Hemet, Strawberry Valley, Idyllwild, virtually every hunter's resort of importance east of Los Angeles in the ranges named, will be closed to all forms of hunting by the passage of the Anderson bill.

"Another bill to similarly close the Cleveland Forest Reserve to all hunting is offered also. Should both prevail, Southern California will have withdrawn the privilege of hunting from a large portion of those who cannot belong to private preserves and rely upon the 'open places' for their sport."

Straighten Record
Let's get the record straight on this thing.
The Cleveland game preserve is no newly born infant. It is two years old. Two years ago the Orange County Game Protective Association decided that there ought to be a game preserve covering a goodly portion of the Santa Ana mountains, for without it it was only a matter of four or five years until there would not be enough deer left in the Santa Ana mountains to fill a child's wheelbarrow.

Accordingly, at the request of hunters, the game preserve bill was introduced. It was passed, but through an error in printing the bill a township that should have been included was left out.

In the two years that the game preserve has been in existence it was found that the carrying of guns was not prohibited, and unless a person was found actually shooting or with game in his possession a conviction would be hard.

So some of those interested in the matter asked Senator Anderson and Assemblyman Burke to present a bill, making the correction in the reserve boundaries and adding the following section:

"Section 3. The carrying of firearms, except side arms, shall be considered prima facie evidence of hunting."

The reserve includes no part of the San Jacinto mountains.
At the Legislature
At Sacramento Assemblyman Burke had a hearing on the bill before the Fish and Game Committee. The question of carrying arms was brought up, and Burke explained that the reserve has but little travel through it, that when a man went into it and carried a gun, one could conclude positively why that gun had been taken in.

The game reserve bill having drawn some attention, it became known to Attorney Jones of Riverside, who was at the State Capitol. Jones went to Burke's desk and asked for a copy of the Orange county bill. He was given en the bill, and it was used word for word, except the description, for the Angeles Forest bill.

At Jones' request the bill was introduced into the Senate by Senator Anderson and into the Assembly by Assemblyman Burke.

"There is no reason why the bill cannot be amended to change the boundaries," said Burke this morning.

How It Looks Here

If Los Angeles sportsmen want the whole forest kept open to hunting it means that they fail to realize that game is getting scarcer year by year, and that unless some refuge are offered it will soon be killed off entirely.

The sportsmen of Orange county have acted wisely in backing the game reserve in the Santa Ana mountains. If Hedderly wants to tackle the proposed Angeles reserve, let him tackle to his heart's content, but he need not include the Santa Ana mountains reserve in his declarations. Far from worrying because the reserve is established, the hunters here take satisfaction and pride in the fact that they have provided a place where the buck and the doe can lie down with their fawn and worry not lest the head of the family is given a leaden poke in the ribs.

But the game reserve idea is right, Hedderly notwithstanding. The Angeles reserve ought to be established, whether with the boundaries as provided for in the bill is another question.

In closing, it might be said that the Santa Ana mountains reserve is going to be guarded carefully. Though it is a state reserve, the state is not going to be depended upon to guard it. The men who live in the mountains, including Game Warden Adkinson, have shaken hands in an agreement to see that the man who hunts on the reserve gets what is coming to him early and often.

HOME TALENT EXCLUSIVELY, DECK'S EDICT

Moose Club Once Again to Try to Meet the Expositi-tionites

Exclusively local players will be used by Manager Deck for his Moose team lineups hereafter, he announces. He believes that Santa Ana fans will be more interested in the work of players living in this city than they would in the work of players living out of town.

The Moose club is to meet the Exposition club Sunday. That is, provided it does not rain. The Exposition club was to have played here for the past two Sundays, but unfavorable weather prevented.

February 13 and 14 the Santa Ana Moose club will play the Redlands team, Deck states. The Stags will meet Redlands on their grounds, leaving Santa Ana Saturday, February 13 and playing the two games before returning here.

After the Redlands game it will be Deck's aim to secure games principally with Orange county teams. This decision should meet with much favor from all the fans in the county. With Santa Ana having two teams and vines at Garden Grove, Anaheim, Fullerton, Brea, Placentia and Richfield, there will be no trouble in getting started a first-class series of inter-county games.

Deck now has the following on his team: Sals, pitcher; Stevens, catcher; Leske, first base; Brown, second base; West, shortstop; McGaffey, right field; Carillo, left field, and Freeman, center field. Deck is casting about for a good third baseman. Several aspirants have made applications for the job, but as yet Deck has made no decision. Pete Duhart is expected back in the game within two or three weeks.

BUY AN AUTO, KEEP CHILDREN ON FARM

TOLEDO, O.—The old, old question "How to keep the children on the farm?" has been answered, according to John W. Willys here today. Willys is a big auto manufacturer. The answer is the medium priced auto, says Willys.

"The wild scramble on the part of farm-bred boys and girls to get work in the cities is fast becoming a thing of the past. The motor car has brought the cities to them. The auto is keeping more youngsters on the farm today than promises of city wealth ever could do," Willys declares.

Willys puts the high price of farm products in the past directly at the door of the "on to the city movement."

"The agriculturalist found he must boost the price of his product in order to pay for the planting, tending and marketing of that product. But the coming of the medium priced automobile has changed conditions. His sons and daughters have the opportunity for recreation they have always sought. They are practically as independent as the youngsters whose parents live in the suburbs. In the evening their car will take them as far and fast as they want to travel. They can run to the city and attend a theater, a concert or any other amusement."

And in the present day of scientific farming implements, they are not too tired to do this either, Willys believes.

PUTTING TIRES ON Q. D. RIMS

Considerable trouble is sometimes experienced when putting tires, especially if they are oversize tires, on Q. D. rims. This is due to the fact that the tire, as well as the rim, rests on the floor. This prevents the tire from going far enough on the rim to permit the locking ring to be easily slipped in place. But if a couple of pieces of wood, or other blocks, are used to support the rim about an inch from the floor, the tire may be quickly forced all the way on the rim, and the locking ring put in place.

OLD TIMERS HAD A HARD ROW TO TILL

High School Baseball in the Olden Days Not a Bed of Roses

NARY A COACH, YET
GOOD PROGRESS MADE

Famous '05 Champs Had to Scratch for Funds to Buy Suits

Baseball in the Santa Ana high school has undergone many changes since the game was first introduced in the school. A comparison of conditions that obtained as short a time ago as 1904 with those obtaining at present brings to light the fact that the students at Polytechnic now enjoy many advantages undreamed of in the "early days."

The lifetime of a team in those days was nothing but a series of hard struggles. Not only did the players need to fight equally as hard as the present-day clubs during contests but they had also to fight with might and main when it came to keeping grounds in shape, learning the game and getting uniforms.

There were no coaches when baseball was started at Santa Ana high. What the players learned was picked up, hit or miss. It was a case of hustle from the time the season started until it closed. Indeed, one of the strange things in this connection is that the early teams managed to play such splendid ball with their limited facilities. The realization of the fact that hard work, and hard work only, was all that would bring the team success was responsible no doubt for the wonderful showing made by the teams.

Dr. Garland C. Ross, who was captain of the famous championship team of the 1904-05 season, gives some interesting information of the trials and tribulations undergone by the team:

"Getting our uniforms was one of the hardest jobs," says Dr. Ross. "We tried a lot of schemes to raise the necessary funds with which to buy the suits. The plan that brought the best results, however, was the box social stunt. The proceeds of this social, added to what little cash we already had, gave us sufficient money with which to get the uniforms."

"Students at Poly nowadays hardly realize what splendid advantages they enjoy, as compared with about ten years ago. Instead of being able to devote all our time to practice we had to get out after school and on Saturday mornings and hoe weeds to get the ball grounds in shape. One of our hardest jobs was to find a team we could use for harrowing. We had no money, of course, with which to hire a team, so we had to resort to some clever maneuvering to get people to lend us the horses."

The first Santa Ana high school baseball team of which there is any record took the field in the spring of 1899. Hal McCullough was pitcher. Others who were on the team were Tom Hill, who pitched first base; Harvey Baker, Tom Hossler and Dr. M. A. Patton.

In 1900, students who had a fondness for athletics will always remember Professor R. E. B. McKinney, the first teacher who ever took any interest in promoting high school athletics. McKinney coached the track and football teams during that year. The high school in those days was located in what is now known as Washington school, then called Central.

The athletes at the high school during that year trained out in the street. A county track meet held that year resulted in Burt Stephenson, now first ranger in this county, winning the 220, 440 and 880-yard dashes. Dr. M. A. Patton won the 100-yard dash and William McCadden won the mile walk. Following is the line-up of the championship team of 1905: George Coleman, pitcher; Lee Wilkinson, Robert Spurgeon, catchers; Ed Robinson, first base; Ralph Walbridge, second base; Garland Ross (captain), third base; W. Hilliard, shortstop; L. Obar, left field; Roy West, center field, and Cecil Dubois, right field.

The record made by this team is one that will probably never be equalled by any other Southern California high school team. The season began February 16 and continued until June 3. Following is the list of schools played and the scores:

Santa Ana Elks, 1 to 1 (11 innings); Orange high school, 12 to 0; Whittier high school, 2 to 1 (11 innings); Long Beach high school, 8 to 2; Riverside high school, 2 to 1; Fullerton high school, 3 to 0; Occidental College, 2 to 5; Fullerton high school, 0 to 0 (15 innings); San Diego high school, 21 to 1; Riverside high school, default, 9 to 0; Whittier State school, 7 to 5; Whittier State school, 6 to 7; Los Angeles Polytechnic high school, 1 to 0; Santa Ana team, 4 to 1, and Los Angeles high school, 1 to 0.

Two of the most remarkable things brought about during the season were the game with Fullerton, which resulted in a 9 to 0 tie after 15 innings, and the defeat of the supposed-to-be invincible Los Angeles high school. The fifteen-inning game will never be forgotten in Orange county. It was chiefly of moment because it first served to bring the now famous Walter Johnson into the Southern California limelight, though it was not until about two years later that Johnson, at that time pitching for the Santa Fe Oil Wells team of Brea, came to be looked upon as a future big league star.

The high school Ariel published in 1905 referred to George Coleman as "the best high school pitcher in this part of the state." At that time he was on a par with Johnson except in the matter of control.

Playing on the teams that the local school was called upon to meet in 1905 were some of the best athletes known in Southern California high schools before or since. Fred Snodgrass, who later went to the New York Giants, Stan and Mow Mitchell, well known in athletics on the coast; Fred Wilkinson, who achieved distinction in semi-pro ball; Bricker, who went to the Northwest League, and Johnson, future Occidental second base star and now coach at San Bernardino, all played on the Los Angeles high school team, from which it will be seen that the Santa Anans did not have an easy task to win from them.

Delving back still further in the history of Santa Ana high school baseball it is found that even so short a time ago as 1904 such a thing as a schedule was comparatively unknown and that no such thing as a league was in existence.

The 1903-04 season was opened with Santa Ana defeating the Orange high school by a score of 4 to 1. Followed a game with the Bolsa high school, won by Santa Ana, 9 to 6. A two-game series with Riverside followed. Both games were won by the Riversiders, one 8 to 5 and the other 9 to 8.

With the exception of another game with Bolsa high school, won by Bolsa, 3 to 1, and a number of games between the sophomores and freshmen no other games were played in 1904, proof that baseball, both in Orange county and throughout Southern California, was not in anything like the flourishing state it is today.

POCKET BILLIARDS TOURNEY PLANNED

Alexandra Parlors to Stage Interesting Contests Starting February 22

Plans are already under way for a big handicap pocket billiard tournament to be held beginning February 22 at the Alexandra parlors.

The success of the three-cushion tournament held recently so encouraged Manager Perry, owner of the Alexandra, that he is confident the forthcoming pocket billiard tournament will attract widespread attention not only among players and fans in Santa Ana but in Orange county as well.

Games will be played every evening with the exception of Saturday and Sunday. When a player has lost two games he is out of the tournament. There is to be only one prize, a handsome billiard cue, to go to the winner of the tournament.

Four local players who have given assurance that they will participate are Dick Whitson, Roy Gallison, Ellis H. Smith and Walter Rogers. The three latter will in all probability start from scratch.

The handicaps will be decided upon by a committee of three non-contestants to be named by Manager Perry.

Others who will probably enter are Charlie Lacy, George Newman, Royce Lantz and "Butch" Gallison. There are perhaps a dozen other good players who will take part in the tourney, though they have not yet been registered.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results From an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Advertisement.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE GRAND

The long-looked-for musical comedy, a brand new, up-to-date musical fumble of songs and girls, comes to the Grand Opera House, Monday, February 8, "September Morn" of course gets its title from the painting of the same name, which has stirred up comment from coast to coast. The story has to do with the aspirations of one Rudolph Plastric, owner of an art studio, who claims to have been the painter. Of course Rudolph does not even know how to paint a picket fence. The model of "September Morn" is laid claim to by an actress who has instructed her press agent to circulate the rumor that she is the original. The ludicrous moments when the two impersonators are dodging each other and when a chesty old army officer, who has fallen in love with the actress, discovers that she is a good friend of his wife, creates enough laughter and plot for six musical plays. The scenery is prettily designed and painted and the costuming introduces the latest Parisian creations.

AT THE TEMPLE

Marguerite Clark in Powerful Film Portrayal, "The Crucible," Famous Players-Paramount Feature. Following her first triumphant appearance in motion pictures, in the title role of "Wildflower," the fascinating and irresistible Marguerite Clark is again presented on the Famous Players-Paramount program in Mark Lee Luther's powerful story, "The Crucible," the pathetic story of a soul's ordeal in the melting-pot of suffering, from which fiery furnace it emerges unscathed, and strengthened by its agonies.

In this powerful five-part production, Marguerite Clark portrays the role of Jean Fanchaw, at first hoyden and tomboy, unjustly condemned to a reformatory, but who later triumphs over the shame of her imprisonment and the sordid corruption of her environment, returning good for evil to those who worked havoc with her life. How she is rewarded for her long struggle against evil and despair by the attainment of a wonderful love is vividly unfolded in this unusually strong photoplay.

The development of this subject differs greatly from the plot of "Wildflower," in which Marguerite Clark made her debut before the motion picture camera, providing many opportunities for strong emotional portrayal which the simplicity and naïveté of Miss Clark's first screen impersonation necessarily lacked, and the resulting test of this charming star's degree of versatility is more than met by the complete success of the role.

The subject opens tonight at the Temple Theater for three days, where it will undoubtedly sufficiently thrill and interest audiences.

AT CLUNE'S FOR THREE DAYS,

A five-part photoplay, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," featuring Beatriz Michelena in the character of "Lovely Mary" and Blanche Chapman in that of "Mrs. Wiggs." The film play thus combines the salient features of the two books.

That "Mrs. Wiggs" is a success in film form, goes without saying.

The story opens with the death of Mrs. Vanderhurst, who leaves an only child, Lovely Mary, an heiress, who disappears and finds work as a circus girl. Hiram Wiggs has run away from Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch and has become a ring-master and a big mist. Lovely Mary does not take kindly to circus work and is ill-treated by King, the circus master, who offers to get her a job elsewhere. But discovering that she is an heiress he has her secreted and replaces her with another girl who poses as an heiress. Lovely Mary escapes with Hiram Wiggs' little boy, Tommy, and takes refuge at Mrs. Wiggs' home at the Cabbage Patch; but King trails and recaptures her. Bob, the lawyer's clerk, mistrusts King, trails him and rescues Lovely Mary. And she, producing proofs of her identity to the lawyer, is recognized as the heiress. Hiram Wiggs' circus wife having died as the result of an accident in the ring, he returns home and at the instigation of Lovely Mary is forgiven by Mrs. Wiggs, Mary adopting Tommy, and keeping the secret of Hiram's bigamous adventure.

Marrying and giving in marriage occurs in her homely entourage, and "the Cabbage Patch" becomes the focal point for many joyful episodes. And the "Cabbage Patch" is a haven of refuge for poor, hunted, Lovely Mary in her trials and tribulations. Realism characterizes the scenes of circus life—King, the circus master, is a heartless and greedy brute. We see the circus in full swing. Hiram Wiggs' young wife (the second and illegal one) is a graceful bare-back rider but she is injured and dies in the pursuit of her calling. Lovely Mary finds consolation in caring for the girl's child—a very tender and beautiful touch.

Lovely Mary's papers of identification are stolen from her and, so is the locket containing a portrait of her father. And around this theft much excitement originates. It is of course the pivotal point of the play, for with them in her final possession, Lovely Mary is enabled to right many wrongs.

REDLANDS ATHLETES MAY MEET S. A. MEN

Should negotiations now under way result in a satisfactory agreement it is likely that a boxing and wrestling tournament will be held between the Redlands and Santa Ana Athletic Clubs at the former place some time early in February. The Redlands club is a new organization and is getting along in great shape.

It has had a number of smokers or entertainments and has developed several good boys both in boxing and wrestling.

May Go From Here

If it is settled to hold the tournament, some six or eight boys from Santa Ana will take the trip. Who these boys will be has not been decided, but will be left until after they begin training.

It is also the plan of the local club to hold a tournament here about the middle of February which will be open to any boxer or wrestler in Southern California, whether attached to a club or not. Suitable medals will be awarded the winners and it is hoped that a large number of entries will be received. The sport loving fans who have been waiting for something of the kind will now have a chance to indulge in the real thing. It may be decided to have an Orange county championship contest in all the weights from 108 lbs. to the heavyweight limit. Prospective boxers should correspond with R. R. Foley of the Athletic Club and get information. No entry fees will be charged. "Full details will be announced later," said Foley, "but now is the time to begin training."

The Dodge at Huntington

Huntington Beach News: Talbert & Hoge, local distributors for this section of Orange county of the Dodge Brothers and Ford cars, report the first sale of a Dodge Brothers car to Samuel Price of Bolsa. The car will not be delivered until some time in February, and it is expected that there will be a brisk demand for these nifty cars as soon as the firm is able to carry a stock in Huntington Beach.

DRAMA ABROAD AND AT HOME

By Beau Rialto

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—David Belasco's newest production—"Marie Odile"—which had its premiere in Washington, has stirred theatrical circles as they haven't been stirred in some time. With Frances Starr in the leading role the play is well acted and—as it is a Belasco production—well staged. The sensation that it has caused is due entirely to its plot.

Miss Starr is seen as one of the novices in a convent in Alsace. The period of the play is the time of the Franco-Prussian war. The novice that Miss Starr portrays has never seen a man. She believes that children are brought into the world by angels.

German Uhlans make their appearance on the scene. One of them singles out the novice and betrays her. Still innocent of any great wrongs being done, the girl returns to the convent with her babe. She believes that a kind of providence has allowed her to have the child.

The initial performance of "Marie Odile" left the capital gasping from reports received here. No detail of the play had been allowed to leak out by the producer until it had its premiere.

New York's leading dancers are not confining their money-making activities to the stage. With hardly an exception all of the exponents of modern dancing are appearing as attractions at cafes—either their own or as salaried performers.

Joan Sawyer, who takes a whirl at vaudeville every little while, has the popular Persian Garden, where she dances daily. George Harcourt, at present, is her partner and she has been introducing many new evolutions of her own creation.

"Chez" Maurice, at Fifteenth street and Broadway, is another high-class retreat. Maurice and Florence Walton, two of the most popular dancers ever in New York, appear there daily on all of the modern steps.

"Castles in the Air" is still another well patronized dining place. As the name suggests, the Castles—Vernon and wife—appear nightly. After their performance at the Winter Garden, where they are appearing in "Watch Your Step," they hustle to "Castles in the Air," atop the Forty-fourth street theater and there they dance for the amusement of early morning diners.

Theater-goers the country over will mourn the death of George B. Frothingham, better known as Friar Tuck, the character he portrayed so many times in "Robin Hood." He died recently at Burlington, Vt. of heart disease. He was 75 years old.

Frothingham devoted almost three-fourths of his entire stage career to playing Friar Tuck. It was his boast that he knew every wink, blink and song of every character in "Robin Hood." His last appearance in New York was in 1914, when "Robin Hood" was revived at the New Amsterdam Theater.

"Dancing Around" ends its run at the Winter Garden in a very few nights. Its performance on February 6 is expected to be its last there. Led by Al Jolson, the company will start on a tour to the Pacific coast.

John Drew is to appear in a revival of "Rosemary" next fall at the Empire Theater. This has been decided upon by the star and Charles Frohman. There has been an insistent demand for Drew to play in Rosemary. He was unable to do so before the Empire closed the present season, so it was decided to have the revival next fall prior to the opening of the regular season then.

Arthur Hammerstein has helped the "Hotel de Gink" get a piano by giving Jeff Davis, its organizer, and hailed as "King of the Hoboes," a week's engagement. With his salary Davis bought a piano for his hostelry.

LOCAL MAN ATTENDS BANQUET OF ELECTRIC VEHICLE ASSOCIATION

Earl L. Mathews, proprietor of the Orange County Ignition Company, attended the banquet given by the Electric Vehicle Association of America at the Jonathan Club in Los Angeles last night. The object of the association is to promote the interests of everything pertaining to electrical equipment of cars. These meetings are held monthly and are of great interest to members.

BASEBALL ENTHUSIASM IS HIGH AT POLYTECHNIC

Baseball enthusiasm is at its height at the high school.

There are from twenty to twenty-five men out each night and the long period of practice before any games will give the ball tossers a chance to show up.

Just at present Cap Brown is working on Criddle, Parker and Cannon for pitchers and states that they are showing up fine.

Some of the stars of previous teams are at the grounds each night, helping Coach Hall who has his hands full with both track and baseball.

The boys have been getting some good pointers from Carl Stevens, Eddie McGaffey and Pete Durhart.

The long siege of training this season should aid this year's team tremendously to make a first rate showing about the last Saturday in this month, probably with the Sherman Indians.

Hike

The next tramp by the Athletic Club hikers will be taken on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 6 and 7. The objective point has not been decided upon but will be one of the following: Laguna Beach, Mt. Wilson, or Tom Doyle's ranch. Any of these places will afford excellent opportunities for enjoyable hiking and good places to camp. "All should keep this date open and plan to go along this time," said Foley. "Ask the ones who have been on former tramps how they have enjoyed themselves."

BRAKES

Use the brakes with judicious care, and tire mileage and general service will be greatly increased. Each application of the brakes causes some strain on the tires as well as in the transmitting parts of the machine. This strain, if constantly recurring, will, of course, result in the more rapid wear of the tires. The best drivers use the brakes very little, and their tire service is greater because of it. In ordinary road running—save in emergency cases—the engine may be relied upon to do the work usually asked of the brakes. It is surprising how smoothly and efficiently a car can be handled without the use of the brakes after a little practice.

One of the hardest hitters and the most consistent sticker on the Brea team is "Monty" Turk, left fielder.

POLY WORKING LIKE BLAZES FOR BIG MEET

Event at Anaheim Saturday Important, Says Captain Trago

Everything is in full swing at the Polytechnic this week in preparation for the practice meet with Anaheim on Saturday. The rain the first of the week caused some inconvenience but this is being made up for in the remaining days of the week.

Captain Trago says the meet with Anaheim is rather important because it will give some idea as to the outcome of the county meet to be held in Anaheim March 13.

As the dope goes the only men that are apt to cause the Santa Ana "Braves" any trouble are Douglas and Webb of Anaheim. These men made good showings in the county meet last year and are there with "bells" this year. Along with these men come the Plavan brothers and Criddle, who are showing up good again this year and will give the fellows from the Mother Colony a run for their money.

In the javelin throw Anaheim is a dark horse. They are the ones that started this new entry and they may have something that no one knows about for this event.

Whether or not Anaheim has any "sharks" in this event remains to be seen, but at any rate, the local squad has Plavan and Utter, both of whom are showing up well.

Leonard Hamaker is making a fine showing in the high hurdles and the only man is liable to cause him any trouble is King of Long Beach as far as Orange county is concerned. Hamaker is the best man that has shown up.

In the low hurdles Santa Ana should take all three places. Criddle and the two Plavans will probably be entered in this event.

In the 440 Hill of Santa Ana and Douglas will have a battle for first place. In the mile run Christensen has been showing up well and Kemp of the Mother Colony will earn his first place if he gets it, while McCarter and McClockey will get second and third.

The pole vault is another event that Anaheim is a "dark horse" in, but who ever enters will meet keen competition when they meet Robinson, Winans and the Keeny brothers of Santa Ana.

Wilkinson, E. Plavan and Burkett are doing the high jump and are reaching near Anderson's mark that won the big meets last year.

The shotput seems quite popular this year, having several entrants. Among the ones that are heaving the shot near the forty-foot mark are Oertly, Burkett, E. Plavan and Best. E. Plavan is a star again this year in the broad jump. He jumped something over twenty feet last year and was entered in the meet at Stanford.

The half-mile is a sure winner for Santa Ana, with Hill, Halderman and Christensen entered.

The discus is an assured two-place event for the Polytechnic squad, with Oertly and Best heaving the disc near the 100-foot mark.

Considering everything the Santa Ana boys feel that they have a good chance with the Mother Colony bunch.

The team will be considerably strengthened at the beginning of the next semester by some of the other track men returning to school. Among them is Graves who, with Hamaker, has a fine chance to be the best in Southern California in the high hurdles.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Advertisement.

TERRIFIC SPEED EXPECTED AT LOCAL TRACK SUNDAY

Faster time than has ever been made by a gasoline-driven machine in Orange county is expected by motorcycle race fans at the big race meet to be held at the Santa Ana track next Sunday.

There are some who are positive that Don Johns on his famous Cyclone will again shatter world's records, not only in the trials for track record which will be put on before the main event, but in the 100-mile free-for-all grind as well.

Johns' performance last Sunday at Ascot Park, when he broke the former world's ten-mile record by reeling off the ten laps in 8:14, has made him a prime favorite with all the fans. There is no reason whatever why Johns should not lower this record again on the coming Sunday.

The question of whether Johns' motor will stand the terrific strain that will be put upon it in the 100-mile event is one that is causing much talk.

Ray Creviston has demonstrated time and again that his 8-valve Indian can "stand the racket."

Although these two demons of speed are the favorites, the fans are not losing sight of a dozen other riders who are every whit as fearless and may be depended upon to push their mounts to the limit.

Mortie Graves, Glen Stokes, "Cannon Ball" Baker, Al Ward, Leslie Carson, "Blick" Walters, Frank Montgomery, Dave Kinney, Carl Goudy, Peyton Burke, Harry Rossier, Frank Sawyer and others will all be very much in the running, as their past records will prove.

The entrance in the big grind of Rossier and Sawyer, the two local riders, is of especial interest to the speed bugs in this locality. Both riders have skill and daring in an unlimited degree.

Automobiles at the big race will be parked free of charge, Walter Rogers announces. An admission price of fifty cents will be charged to the track. The events are scheduled to start promptly at 2 o'clock.

VALLEY QUAIL MOST TYPICAL GAME BIRD IN CALIFORNIA

By HAROLD C. BRYANT

Game Expert, California Fish and Game Commission.

The game resources of California were originally unequalled by those of any other state. Even though greatly reduced at the present time, they bring in an annual income of at least $15,000,000 each year. The wild game of the state is a resource to be compared with our forests, our water supply and like assets, and needs to be just as carefully conserved. Like many other public resources, however, this one has been wasted and the time is near at hand when the strictest of conservation measures will fail to save what is left unless the public becomes more intensely interested in its protection.

The Register has offered to assist in bringing to the citizens of the state reliable information regarding game. Dr. H. C. Bryant, in charge of the Bureau of Education, Publicity and Research of the California Fish and Game Commission, is the author of a series of articles dealing with the game fish, birds and mammals of California. Other articles by Dr. Bryant will appear in the near future.

The California valley quail is the most typical and best beloved game bird of the state. It comes very near being a native son of the Golden West, for it ranges but little beyond our borders. From the sea coast to an elevation of 7000 feet in our mountains this quail was formerly very abundant. At the present time there are many places in the state where its numbers have been so depleted that few are left to give evidence of their presence. Above the limits of its altitudinal range its place is taken by its larger cousin, the mountain quail. This latter bird differs considerably in size, coloration and in its crest. On the desert a very near relative, the Gambel quail, is to be found. In a few places the ranges of these two species overlap, and both varieties can sometimes be found in the same flock. There are even instances of hybrids having been found.

The valley quail begins to pair in the last week of February. At this season there is considerable fighting among the males for the favor of the coveted female. The flocks which have congregated during the winter, slowly break up and individual pairs of birds are seen seeking nesting sites. Strange places are often chosen in which to conceal the nest. A nook under some brush or among some weeds or hay-cocks is the situation most often used, but occasionally nests may be found in shrubs, on a low lying limb, or even among vines. This quail is a prolific egg layer and there are records of nest having been found which contained from eighteen to twenty-two eggs. A commonest complement appears to be fifteen to seventeen. The average brood numbers twelve to fifteen. The young of the valley quail are extremely precocious, being able to run about in less than an hour after hatching. They have even been seen to run away with part of the shell still clinging to them. The young are very expert in hiding, and one writer insists that he discovered one little fellow lying on his back protecting himself by a large leaf held in his claws.

The statement is commonly made that quail do not nest during very dry seasons. In fact, this was the story told to white people by native Indians. The phenomenon is probably due to a lack of the necessary food.

Quail are extremely active birds, keeping almost constantly on the move from early morning until dusk. While a flock is feeding, a male bird stations himself on some commanding elevation and gives warning to the others on the approach of an intruder.

Of all the game birds of the United States, the California quail is the most resourceful and characterized by the greatest cunning. When frightened, this bird will hide so closely that one may approach within a few feet of it before it will fly. On alighting, it often runs for a considerable distance into the underbrush. In Southern California it takes advantage of the protection afforded by dense clumps of cactus.

The food of the valley quail is made up very largely of vegetable matter, only 3 per cent of the food being made up of insects. The seeds of all of the common weeds, such as turkey mullein, lupine, pigweed, tarweed and flaxseed, are eaten in great numbers. The animal food is composed largely of caterpillars, grasshoppers, ants, beetles and bugs. In the grape-growing districts near Fresno these birds are very beneficial in destroying cutworms, leafhoppers and other insects injurious to the vine.

Many hunters are brought to this state because of the attraction of this bird. The following description given by T. S. Van Dyke, one of the most experienced quail hunters in the state, gives one an idea of the pleasure afforded in hunting this bird: "At your first advance into the place where the quail last settled in confusion, a dozen or more rise in front of you and as many more on each side, and from five to fifty yards away. They burst from the brush with rapid flight and whizzing wings, most of them with a sharp, clear 'chirp, chirp, chirp,' in the tone of which there is more of defiance than of alarm. Some dart straight away in a dark blue line, making none too plain a mark against the dull background of brush, and vanishing in handsome style, unless you are very quick with the gun. Others wheel off on either side, their mottled breasts shining in the sun as they turn, and making a beautiful mark as they mount above the skyline. Some wheel and pass almost over your head, so that you can plainly see the black and white around their heads and throats and the cinnamon shading of their underparts."

In the days when the valley quail were extremely plentiful it was a very common bird on the markets and could be obtained at practically every hotel and restaurant. Records show that during the season 1895-6, 70,370 quail—most of them valley quail—were sold on the markets of San Francisco and Los Angeles. Market hunters in those days were able to kill over 200 quail in one day.

The valley quail has been widely introduced into neighboring states. They were successfully introduced in Washington in 1857. In Oregon and Nevada they have done marvelously well and unless one were informed he would take them for native birds in the places where they are now found. The valley quail found on the islands off the coast of Southern California are said to have been introduced there many years ago. Plantings made on some of the Hawaiian Islands have also proved successful. Attempts to acclimatize this bird in the East have met with just as poor success as have our attempts to get Bob White in California.

Hunting is an important factor in the increase or decrease of birds. In many places this has been the most important factor in causing a decrease in the number of quail. With the increased traveling facilities and the increased efficiency of firearms this aspect of the question is yearly becoming more and more important. Twenty years ago hunting involved not only considerable time but considerable inconvenience; today, with the automobile and the increased transportation facilities, a hunt involves but little time and almost no inconvenience.

The comparative destruction possible with a hamuzzi loader, or even with a single barreled breech loading shotgun and an automatic, brings forcibly to mind one of the causes for the decrease in game birds during the last few years. Shooting from automobiles, a practice of the present day, is an easy way of filling the game-bag, but it is a dangerous practice when viewed from the standpoint of conservation. Most game birds, on account of their profligence, can withstand a certain amount of shooting, but the wholesale slaughter now made possible by improved methods undoubtedly oversteps the danger point.

A comparison of the present status of the valley quail with its former status, as cited above, shows that the annual destruction has exceeded the yearly crop and has cut into the productive brood stock. It has been proven time and again that the valley quail is a bird which can quickly recover after excessive destruction when it is given a chance. At the present time there are many places, notably in Southern California, where drastic protection laws must be passed in the near future if this quail is to survive. Wherever the valley quail is given proper attention it thrives. Smaller bag limits and a regulation of the amount of shooting to take into account the natural death rate, are steps which need to be taken immediately.

BOWLING TEAMS TO COMPETE AT PEORIA

PEORIA, Ill., Feb. 4.—More than 500 five-men teams will compete in the American Bowling Congress tournament here in March, according to word received by local tournament officials from Abe Langtry, the secretary. Langtry says unusual interest is being shown in the Peoria event and he expects a list that is likely to equal or surpass the record of six hundred teams at Chicago.

E. J. Ryan of Detroit, president of the A. B. C., writes that the largest delegation that ever left Detroit for a similar event will come to Peoria. At least fifty teams are promised by Charles M. Baker of St. Louis, a member of the executive committee; Edwin H. Meyers of Indianapolis and William E. Kelly of Ottumwa, Iowa, write that they will accompany big delegations. A special train will bring St. Paul and Minneapolis bowlers.

This Is the Car That Carried 7 Passengers 24 1/8 Miles on One Gallon of Gasoline

Model 440. Four-cylinder Cole, made from the same standard parts so well known throughout the Cole line, completely equipped; $1485 at factory.

Economy is the watchword in automobile buying just the same as in every other line of merchandise.
